The Emus and Ourselves.
It's the Public's Fault.
What Is Education?
New Game, Sock the Rich.

—BY ARTHUR BRISBANE—

HEARST RANCH,
San Simeon, Cal., April 13.

BEAUTIFUL IS this mountain side, half way between Northern and Southern California. W. R. Hearst, born in this state, and with newspapers in North and South California, lives, tactfully, in the middle.

He did not plan it, but built his house on the hills over which he rode as a boy with his father, who raised cattle and horses here on fields where oats grow wild, and pasture lasts the year round.

EASTER LILIES as big as sunflowers grow in the open here, fifteen hundred feet above sea level, and scores of other flowers, including many that are strange.

Mild-eyed kangaroos gaze placidly upon you, free in wild fields, not knowing or caring how they got here, from half way round the world. Emus and cassowaries share their intellectual indifference, and snow white deer from Japan.

We human bipeds, similarly, don't know how we reached this rolling sphere, whence we came or whither we are soon to go, and like the emus, a majority of us are free from intellectual curiosity.

THE PUBLIC learns from Mr. Whitney, head of New York's stock exchange, that the poor, innocent bears have nothing to do with our troubles.

The public itself is responsible. It should not have gambled so wildly. That recalls the saloon keeper's remark pointing to the fallen drunkard:

"He drank it. I didn't. Why blame me?"

MR. WHITNEY says also that Mr. Coolidge is to blame, for talking so much about prosperity, thus building up the great bull market of 1929. And Mr. Hoover was to blame for promising, in his campaign, that poverty was about to be abolished forever.

President Hoover said nothing of the kind. He said that poverty COULD be abolished. So it could, if the nation had brains enough to distribute its plenty for all, and if men that rob the people of their savings with worthless stock issues were jailed for life, instead of being merely questioned.

WHAT IS education?

The baseball season begins, and fifty million Americans can tell you about "the Browns, White Sox, Indians, Cardinals, Yankees, Giants," and Lefty Grove, Wesley Ferrell, Lefty Gomez, Long George Kelly, Hafey, Grimes and all the others.

Of the same fifty millions, few could tell you anything about Giordano Bruno, Arkwright, Archimedes, Servetus, Tamerlane, Harvey, to say nothing of Thales, Pythagoras, or the big three, Socrates, Plato, Aristotle.

Yet, incredible as it may sound to "rooters for the Cubs," any one of the last named twelve will outlive in men's memories, all the baseball players and clubs.

INSURGENT DEMOCRATS and "progressive" Republicans plan, it is said, to "soak the rich, jack up taxes on the wealthy, increase surtaxes, estate and gift taxes, levy all the traffic will bear on luxury commodities."

"Soaking the rich" may not prove to be harmless sport, for, strange as it may seem, a nation's prosperity calls for individuals of intelligence and energy.

Henry Ford, the DuPonts, some General Motors and steel men are rich. Also, they have paid in wages one thousand dollars and more, for every dollar they own.

Well-meaning radicals should make sure that THEY can continue paying the wages, before they "soak the rich" out of existence.

A religious order once established itself in Central America, and arranged to "soak the poor" natives, by making them work steadily, no play, only salvation hereafter, guaranteed. The Indians did not like it, and stopped having children. There were no more Indians to "soak," and the whole scheme was a failure.

If earnest radicals soak the rich until the latter cease producing payrolls, there may be REAL trouble.

JOSEPH LEITER, of Chicago, is dead. His father, a great merchant, helped, with money inherited by his beautiful daughter Mary, to make life pleasant for the late Lord Curzon and his British descendants.

He planned, it is said, to buy the great wall of China, to preserve it for posterity. Japan will attend to that.

He planned a one-million egg incubator in a Chicago office building.

In his last days, Leiter from a wheel chair watched his horses racing at New Orleans. If he came back, he would probably live the same life again.

He possessed great power, made useless by inherited money.

Talbot Fund Inadequate To Meet Needs, He Says; Former Opposition Cited

HARRISBURG, April 13.—(AP.)—An extra session of the Legislature will be required to meet the unemployment situation in Pennsylvania despite the validating of the Talbot act, Gov. Pinchot said today.

Asserting that the $10,000,000 appropriated by the Talbot act to the state's 368 poor districts would only postpone the day when relief funds will be exhausted, the Governor said it is evident that more funds must be provided and that this money can only be given by the Legislature.

The Governor gave no indication as to when the Legislature may be summoned, but he said this step could not be taken until the state's fiscal situation is ascertained and a definite plan for action by the Legislature is agreed upon. He asserted:

"The last session proved that the needs of the people are not enough to control the action of political leaders."

Separate requisitions for the first four payments to counties under the Talbot act amounting to $7,000,000 are being sent to Auditor General Charles A. Waters today by the Department of Welfare.

In thismatter the department prepared a list of payments by counties for the $3,000,000 due in December and January, which are based on the revised November unemployment report showing 867,514 unemployed in the state.

Mrs. Alice Liveright, welfare secretary, also prepared a list of payments by counties for the $4,000,000 due in February and March, which are based on the new January report showing 1,001,094 unemployed.

An unofficial list shows $1,114,276 as the approximate total amount due Allegheny County for the four months.

Helene Costello To Seek Divorce

NEW YORK, April 13.—(AP.)—Helene Costello, screen actress, returned from Europe today on the liner Lafayette. She refused at first to discuss the report that her actor husband, Lowell Sherman, had brought suit for divorce, then said it was true and finally decided to deny it.

She admitted, however, that she intended to sue for divorce when she reaches California.

O. K. of Wilkerson Warning to Gangs

WASHINGTON, April 13.—(AP.)—A sharp warning to organized gangland was thrown out by a Senate Judiciary sub-committee yesterday in approving the promotion of Judge James H. Wilkerson, who sent Al Capone to the penitentiary for 11 years.

The committee voted 3 to 2 to recommend confirmation of Wilkerson's nomination to the Circuit Court.

Dean Inge Would Banish Modern Art

LONDON, April 13.—(AP.)—One of the things the "gloomy dean" is gloomy about is certain modern art. Hitting "sculpture apparently modeled on the early efforts of African savages" and "paintings which seem to be the work of mad mathematicians," Dean Inge, of St. Paul's, hopes they'll "be banished to the bathroom or even further."

Mother of Slain Man to Testify In Massie Trial

By GILBERT PARKER
International News Service.

HONOLULU, T. H., April 13.—The timid mother of a dead Hawaiian native today prepared to face in open court the aristocratic American woman and the three men of the United States Navy accused of killing her son.

Mrs. Esther Anita, mother of Joseph Kahahawai, will be called by the Territory as Prosecutor John C. Kelley draws tighter a deadly cordon of evidence around Mrs. Grace Hubbard Fortescue, her son-in-law, Lieut. Thomas H. Massie, and two Naval enlisted men charged with killing Kahahawai to avenge an attack on Mrs. Massie.

MOTHER LOVE

Love for her daughter called Mrs. Fortescue from the drawing rooms of mainland society to this tropical city when her daughter was attacked by five hoodlums, allegedly led by Kahahawai.

Love for her son impelled Mrs. Anita to volunteer her testimony in an effort to send the four Americans to prison in expiation of the shooting of her son.

Speedily concluding his case, Kelley was expected to put five other witnesses in addition to Mrs. Anita on the stand today. Twelve of the 26 available government witnesses already have been swiftly paraded through the witness box in the past two days, and the Territory of Hawaii was expected to rest its case by the end of Thursday's session.

PARENTS SEPARATED

It will be Mrs. Anita's first appearance in the dingy little courtroom. Joseph Kahahawai, Sr., father of the dead youth, was a spectator during the selection of the polyglot jury, but has not appeared since. The parents of the dead man have long been separated, and even the tragedy that

V. F. W. CHIEF URGES BONUS

WASHINGTON, April 13.—(INS.)—More than 98 per cent of the World War veterans demand cash payment of their service certificates, Darold de Coe, of Sacramento, Cal., national commander of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, told the House Ways and Means Committee today.

Taking issue with statements of American Legion officials, De Coe said his estimate was based upon contact with veterans in all parts of the country. He asserted:

"They believe they should have the same consideration as war contractors and others. They received a bonus. The adjusted service certificates are not a bonus, but an adjustment of their pay."

He quoted the statements of Brig. Gen. Frank T. Hines, federal administrator of veterans' affairs, to show the veterans did not waste the 50 per cent borrowing privileges of their certificates given them last year.

Sergt. Alvin York, World War hero, who was slated to testify today, failed to appear.

School Reinstates Author, Co-ed Critic

BATON ROUGE, La., April 13.—(AP.)—Dr. John Earle Uhler, associate professor of English, dismissed by Louisiana State University for writing the novel, "Cane Juice," has been reinstated.

The novel was attacked bitterly by Mgr. F. L. Gassler, of Baton Rouge, as a reflection on Louisiana's Creole population and the L. S. U. co-eds.

SKIDS WRECK SCORES OF AUTOS

Main Highways Blocked, Many Motorists Injured as Storm Glazes Roadways

Scores of auto collisions and numerous minor injuries were reported to police and hospitals today as a post-winter snow changed under falling temperatures last night into an icy coating over the streets and highways in Pittsburgh and its environments.

City workmen labored frantically this morning, sprinkling cinders over the more dangerous stretches, while throughout Western Pennsylvania the State Highway Department, using more than 1,000 men and 184 trucks and plows, turned its efforts to keeping roadways open and minimizing danger.

BUS, TRUCKS DAMAGED

A Pittsburgh Motor Coach Company bus, a tractor pulling two trailers, half a dozen trucks and scores of passenger automobiles figured in the Pittsburgh accidents.

Seventeen machines were involved in a series of crashes which resulted from a traffic jam on the icy Boulevard of the Allies at the Liberty Bridge approach. Four women were injured. County police reported that a truck, skidding as it tried to stop on approaching the jam, was hit by two passenger cars. An empty bus, town-bound, and 13 other cars piled into each other in the three or four ensuing collisions as their brakes, too, proved useless on the slippery roadway.

The injured women are Mrs. Catherine Lennon, 42, of 1450 Hampshire avenue; Catherine Sullivan, 23, of 516 Forward avenue; Mrs. Alice Ramsey, 55, and her daughter, Jean, 27, of 22 Elrey street. All were taken to hospitals.

HIGHWAYS BLOCKED

Dozens of main arteries leading into the city were jammed as minor accidents occurred in the going-to-work rush this morning.

One of the most serious congestions was in Noblestown road, near Crafton boulevard, when a tractor and its two trailers, owned by the Paul Moore Contracting Company, of Dayton, O., skidded into a truck of the Murphy Transfer Company.

Dr. L. C. Taylor, 50, of 3000 Knowlson avenue, Dormont, is in the South Side Hospital today with a dislocated shoulder, the result of being struck by an auto in Pioneer avenue last night as he attempted to fasten tire chains on his own car.

Mt. Washington police held William J. Jackson, 16, of 1422 Key avenue.

Swissvale Pupils March Safely From School Fire

While smoke from a fire in the basement filtered through the halls of the Hawkins Grade School, Braddock avenue and Vernon street, Swissvale, 265 boys and girls, aged from 6 to 15, put on their hats and coats and filed quietly, in orderly lines, out of the building.

Minnie DeJoseph, 12, of 2621 Woodcock avenue, the school pianist, sat at a piano in one of the hallways and played a march tune, as if the exit was but a regular dismissal routine.

Outside the children found the Swissvale Fire Department already on hand. The flames were extinguished quickly when firemen discovered that a single board between two furnaces in the basement had become overheated and ignited, the ventilating fan blowing the smoke into the halls.

The fire was discovered by Maude McClelland, principal of the school, when she smelled the odor of burning wood as she sat in her second-floor office. A wisp of smoke drifted through a crack and the principal notified each teacher to have the children put on their hats and coats and leave the building.

Reserve System Asks Banks to Ease Credit

Action Designed to Reduce Calling Of Loans

WASHINGTON, April 13.—(AP.)—The Federal Reserve System has passed along the word to member banks that they will be expected to take advantage of the loosened credit provided by the government's reconstruction program and to refrain from calling well secured loans.

This disclosure came today at about the same time that George L. Harrison, governor of the New York Federal Reserve Bank, was telling the House Banking Committee that the Federal Reserve Board had agreed to stimulate the volume and rate of purchases of government securities.

NEW CREDIT WAVE

The step of the Federal Reserve was described by those familiar with its workings as inspired by a feeling that there had been a failure on the part of bankers to assist theogvernment in its reconstruction program. These officials believe that strong banks, not seriously affected, instead of calling loans to maintain a liquid condition, should start a wave of new credit.

One official, who declined to permit use of his name, put the attitude of such banks in these words:

"Like a dog sticking his tail between his legs and running at a great noise made over a year ago."

Harrison, before the House committee, said that since passage of the Glass-Steagall bill, which loosened credit provisions of the Federal Reserve, the banks had bought $245,000,000 in government securities, at the rate of about $25,000,000 a year, and then added:

"We have had a meeting and the program will be greatly stimulated both as to the volume and as to the rate."

ACCEPTANCE RATES CUT

NEW YORK, April 13.—(AP.)—Announcement that the Federal Reserve System was embarking upon a more aggressive policy of credit expansion in an effort to stimulate business was reflected in the Wall street money market today.

Coincident with word from George L. Harrison, governor of the New York Federal Reserve Bank, that the central banking its program of government security purchases, came the unusually large reduction of ½ of 1 per cent in bankers' acceptance yield rates. This action was the fourth cut so far this month and represented an attempt to increase the market supply of such paper by attracting offerings from bank portfolios.

Also, United States government reserve bank would take the additional step of reducing its own rediscount rate, now 3 per cent, was a subject of conjecture in Wall street, but such action was viewed as distinctly possible if not inevitable.

HOME OF CURTIS KIN GUARDED

PROVIDENCE, R. I., April 13.—(INS.)—Homes of prominent and wealthy residents of Rhode Island, who have young children, were placed under police guard today to prevent the possibility of a kidnaping attempt.

One of the homes guarded was that of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Webster Knight II. Mrs. Knight is a daughter of Vice President Charles Curtis, and is the mother of two children, a boy 10 years old and girl, 8.

Among other homes guarded were those of Henry D. Sharpe, multi-millionaire manufacturer, and father of a 6-year-old boy, and J. J. Bodell, wealthy New York and Providence investment banker, who has several children.

However, police admitted they had nothing specific upon which to base their fears, except underworld reports that several kidnaping plots had been planned against members of "prominent families" in Rhode Island.

Mrs. W. H. Donner's Daughter to Wed

PHILADELPHIA, April 13.—(AP.)—The engagement of Miss Katherine Norwood Rodgers, daughter of Mrs. William H. Donner, of Camp Woods, Villanova, Pa., and the late J. Norwood Rodgers, formerly of Pittsburgh, to C. Paul Denckla, of Philadelphia, was announced today.

The announcement was made by Mr. and Mrs. William H. Donner, whose daughter, Elizabeth Browning Donner, became the bride last January of Elliott Roosevelt, second son of Gov. and Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, of New York.

DEATH FEAR HIDES GANG IDENTITY

Ex-Student of Go-Between Reported Linked in Crime By Handwriting in Note

International News Service.

TRENTON, N. J., April 13.—Intimations he was again in direct contact with the kidnapers of the Lindbergh baby and that he had an inkling of their identity were given today by Dr. John F. Condon, 72-year-old Fordham University lecturer.

With the approval of Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, the man who paid the $50,000 ransom to the abductors or pseudo-abductors, who failed to keep their pledge to restore the child after the money passed, continued his mysterious activities to recover the infant today.

FORMER STUDENT LINKED

To pupils in one of his classes at New Rochelle College, where he also lectures, Dr. Condon was said to have made the statement he recognized the handwriting in the notes from the kidnapers as that of a former student of his.

He remarked, the report went on, the most characteristic element of it was that the letter "T" was never crossed.

It was believed that Dr. Condon had not only seen the messages he received from the kidnap gang as negotiator for Lindbergh, but also the original ransom note left in the baby's crib, which has been jealously guarded by Lindbergh since it contains the "secret code" for identifying the abductors.

CONTACTS CONTINUED

The author of the "Jafsie" advertisements which preceded the payment of the hoax ransom said:

"I had contacts with the kidnapers and have direct contact with them still.

"I have never identified them or said a word against them.

"I value my life as they value theirs. My life would not be worth anything if I said anything against them."

Dr. Condon made his statements after he returned to his New York

Firemen Battling To Save Ill Baby

Six-month-old Ray Hewitt, Jr., of Stratmore avenue, Ingram, seriously ill with pneumonia, was kept alive today by volunteer firemen of Crafton and Ingram boroughs who were administering oxygen in six-hour relays.

The condition of the child, stricken several days ago, became critical last night. Oxygen was rushed to the home by the Mine Safety Appliances Company and firemen volunteered to administer it to the child.

Widow, 4 Children Left Brown Estate

The will of James E. Brown, of Sewickley, filed today, disposed of an estate valued at $285,000. A bequest of $50,000 less the amounts derived from insurance policies was given the widow, Mrs. Ella Brown. She also was willed the home, a farm in New York, and another in Armstrong County as well as the income from the residue of the estate for life. The income will go to four children at here death.

Premier of Spain Bows as Playwright

MADRID, April 13.—(AP.)—Premier Manuel Azana for the first time in his career bowed last night to the public of Madrid as a playwright, rather than a politician. The occasion was the first performance of his play "La Corona," played by the company of Margarita Xirgu at the "Teatro Espanol."

Lindbergh Wishes Hawks Recovery, New Glories

WORCESTER, Mass., April 13.—(AP.)—Despite the intensity of the search which he is carrying on for his kidnaped son, Charles A. Lindbergh has found time to pen a note of sympathy to Capt. Frank M. Hawks, speed flier, now at City Hospital recuperating from serious injuries suffered last Thursday in an airplane crash.

Col. Lindbergh's letter, received today, expressed regret at the captain's mishap, declared his hope Capt. Hawks could soon return to flying, and that many years of additional glories in aviation lie ahead for the injured man.

DEMOCRATIC CHIEFS ASSAIL HOOVER AT JEFFERSON RALLY

MRS. NORTON DEMANDS DRY CHANGE

Congresswoman Denounces Prohibition Cost; Dinner Will Be Held Tonight

By GEORGE K. HOLMES
International News Service

WASHINGTON, April 13.—Flaming criticism of President Hoover, coupled with promises that the Democrats are returned to power in November they will lead the country out of the economic morass in which it is floundering, marked the first of a Jefferson rally today at which most of the Democratic presidential aspirants.

The Democrats started flaying at a distance and the bombardment will be continued far into the night when A. Smith, Gov. Albert C. Ritchie of Maryland, ex-Gov. James M. Cox of Ohio and others swing into action at a banquet before 1,500 prominent Democrats from all parts of the country.

The luncheon speakers were the party leaders in Congress, Senator Robinson of Arkansas and Representative Rainey of Illinois, and two women, Representative Mary T. Norton, of New Jersey, and ex-Gov. Nellie Ross of Wyoming and Gov. George White of Ohio.

HOOVER ASSAILED

One after another they arose and opened wide the flood-gates of acrid criticism of Hoover policies past and present, and the speaker Mrs. Norton, demanded the abolition of prohibition. The others were silent on this issue.

Mrs. Norton assailed Mr. Hoover's record as Secretary of Commerce and cited figures to show that under his direction the cost of operating the department doubled. The department should be abolished, she declared, and the Prohibition Bureau along with it, she asserted.

"When one attempts to list the offenses committed in the name of this bureau words fail. From the passage of the Eighteenth Amendment to this year 1932, the noble experiment has cost the American people $370,360,585. This sum is based on official figures. And this does not take into consideration the revenue which could be had from a tax on beer and wine; while the cost in murders, suicides, corruption, crime, prison and insane asylum upkeep cannot be estimated."

'MIRACLE MAN'

Robinson sarcastically referred to Mr. Hoover as "The Miracle Man" and recalled the promises that had been made in his name in the campaign of 1928. He provoked laughter by quoting Senator Borah in 1928 as solemnly assuring the country that "Hoover is one of the marvels of the century in his ability to deal with economic problems." Mr. Hoover himself, Robinson asserted, contributed to this propaganda by exaggerating his own contributions to the era of prosperity. He continued:

"Now every policy advanced in the campaign by the 'economic marvel of the age' is generally recognized as unsound, and by many regarded as a direct cause of the depression which grips every form of business. Everything that Mr. Hoover said would happen failed to occur. Everything that he promised would not occur has taken place."

Quoting from the President's speeches, Robinson declared Mr. Hoover's "patent" formula for prosperity was seizure of world markets through foreign loans and mass production accomplished by replacing men with machines.

6-POINT PROGRAM

Robinson proposed this six-point program:

"First, the miracle man's theory that the best method of stimulating business is to withdraw capital from home industries for loans to bankrupt foreign borrowers must be repudiated.

"Second, this government should announce a firm purpose not to cancel or readjust obligations due from foreign countries.

"Third, the policy of isolation reflected in prohibitive tariffs is to be abandoned.

"Fourth, laws for the prevention and regulation of monopolies must be enforced.

"Fifth, reduction of the high cost of government.

"Sixth, readjustments must come in domestic production . . . new domestic markets must be stimulated and foreign markets reached."

ALICE IN UTILITY LAND -:- By Quin Hall

"PLEASE WILL YOU TELL ME," SAID ALICE A LITTLE TIMIDLY, "WHY YOUR CAT GRINS LIKE THAT?"
"IT'S A WALL STREET CAT," SAID THE DUCHESS, "AND THAT'S WHY."
APOLOGIES TO LEWIS CARROLL

By GEORGE H. SNYDER
With Apologies to Lewis Carroll

CHAPTER III.

Alice was lost again. There seemed to be no end to the woods. Each time that she found a path she followed it through many twists and turns only to find that it came back to the same place.

The place was a small clearing in the woods. In the center of the clearing was a tiny house. Alice had tried knocking several times, but there was no answer. She knew there were people home because she heard a loud conversation, but in spite of her repeated bangings at the tiny door she got no answer.

Finally her knuckles became so sore from knocking that Alice turned the knob and went in without any invitation.

The door led right into a large kitchen which was full of smoke from one end to the other. The Duchess was sitting on a three-legged stool in the middle holding a baby. The cook was leaning over the fire stirring a large cauldron which seemed to be full of soup.

"There's certainly too much pepper in that soup!" Alice said to herself as well as she could for sneezing.

Afterward she remembered that the cook, when the shaker was empty, refilled it from a large jar labeled Pyramided Holding Companies.

There certainly was too much pepper in the air. Even the Duchess sneezed occasionally and as for the baby it was sneezing and howling alternately without a moment's pause.

The only two creatures in the kitchen that did not sneeze were the cook and a large cat which was sitting on the hearth and grinning from ear to ear.

"Please will you tell me," said Alice a little timidly, "why your cat grins like that?"

"It's a Wall Street cat," said the Duchess, "and that's why."

"I didn't know that Wall Street cats always grinned—in fact I didn't know that cats could grin," said Alice.

"They don't always grin. Sometimes they are pretty gloomy. But they grin when they have something to look at like this," said the cook.

"Like what?" Alice asked.

"But I don't understand," exclaimed Alice.

"Well, you see," the cook replied, "it's his soup, but it doesn't cost him a thing."

Alice looked more bewildered than ever so the cook went on:

"The cat has a simply tremendous appetite for utility soup, that is, except when he has his occasional fits of depression. Everyone contributes to the soup, but it still belongs to the cat. The public is constantly supplying all the things needed for that soup. They may even think they are buying a share in it, but the cat always owns the soup."

"No wonder the cat grins," said Alice. "But aren't you putting too much pepper in it?"

"Pepper? Oh, dear no," the cook answered. "That is special Pyramided Holding Company pepper and Wall Street Cats just love it. It doesn't bother anyone but the baby."

"But the poor little baby," pleaded Alice.

Alice was so frightened that she ran out of the house.

Pronounced Trend Against Prohibition Also Shown In Primary Elections

International News Service

Added strength for President Hoover and Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt in the forthcoming presidential sweepstakes and a pronounced trend against prohibition were the outstanding consequences today of primary elections and state party conventions in five states of the Middle West and South.

President Hoover definitely possessed 54 additional delegates. Missouri's 41 delegates were instructed to support the President's renomination by the state convention at St. Louis last night. The Florida Republican convention last night chose nine delegates-at-large instructed for Hoover. Four additional Hoover-instructed delegates were elected in district Congressional conventions.

In Nebraska Gov. Roosevelt was leading by a wide margin in the latest returns from yesterday's Democratic preferential primary. Kentucky's 26 delegates to the Democratic convention were instructed to vote for the New York Governor by the state convention last night.

Senate in Row Over Campaign Fund Charge

WASHINGTON, April 13 (AP).—A demand in the Senate today by Senator Robinson (Rep.) of Indiana for investigation of presidential campaign expenditures particularly of those in behalf of Gov. Roosevelt of New York, stirred a sharp debate.

The Indiana Republican read a newspaper story quoting Gov. Murray of Oklahoma, as charging that $50,000 was sent into Nebraska for yesterday's primary in behalf of the Roosevelt ticket. He was hailed by a roar of Democratic "ayes."

Robinson, of Arkansas, the Democratic leader, finally obtained recognition and insisted that Senator Trammell (Dem.) of Florida, who had yielded the floor to Robinson of Indiana, decline to permit "a political speech."

Senator Thomas (Dem.), of Oklahoma, broke in to state that Gov. Murray had denied the accuracy of the newspaper story quoted by Robinson in reference to the Nebraska Roosevelt campaign fund charge.

LEAGUE COURT PLAN BEATEN

WASHINGTON, April 13.—(AP).—The Senate Foreign Relations Committee today rejected 11 to 8, the Pittman resolution proposing to ask for an interpretation from other signatory powers of the meaning of the Root protocol for American adherence to the League Court.

The aim of the resolution was to determine whether the Root protocol covers a reservation adopted by the Senate in 1926, under which the court could not render advisory opinions upon matters in which this country claimed an interest without the approval of the United States government.

Secretary Stimson has taken the view that the Root formula completely covers the reservation.

The senators who voted for the Pittman resolution were: Borah, Johnson, La Follette, Robinson of Indiana, Glenn, Pittman, Lewis and Shipstead. Those opposed were Capper, Reed, Fess, Vandenberg, Cutting, Swanson, Robinson of Arkansas, Walsh of Montana, Harrison, Wagner and Connally.

The committee reached no agreement today for a time to vote on the Root protocol itself.

Miller's Illness Delays Ranch Suit

NEWKIRK, Okla., April 13.—(AP).—The court contest over the homestead of the 101 Ranch was postponed again today because of illness of Col. Zack Miller, who seeks to retain possession of the property against claims of the John Hancock Life Insurance Company.

Pitt 'Quake Expert Found Dead in Auto

J. HAMMOND SMITH

Body Discovered By Pedestrian as Police Search

Missing since midnight, J. Hammond Smith, 65, professor of civil engineering at the University of Pittsburgh, inventor and author, was found dead this morning in his automobile, parked in front of the Taylor Allderdice High School, a short distance from his home, 6363 Douglas avenue, Squirrel Hill.

The professor was found by Joseph Tweedle, of 5811 Pierce street. Death was said by deputy coroners to have resulted from a blood clot in the heart. He had been in ill health for several years, they learned.

Mrs. Smith had asked police at midnight to search for her husband when he failed to return from a parent-teacher meeting in the high school, which he had attended with his 12-year-old daughter, Ileen.

The child said Prof. Smith could not start his automobile when he came out of the school and left her with a neighbor, Mrs. A. G. Nesbit of 6137 Douglas avenue, who also had attended the meeting. Mrs. Nesbit took Ileen home.

Born in Wellsville, O., he was graduated from the Western University of Pennsylvania, now the University of Pittsburgh, and joined its engineering faculty 30 years ago. He was the second oldest professor in that department in point of service. He was the author of numerous papers and books on engineering subjects and inventor of a photosculpturing process for testing materials.

He was in charge of the seismograph, an instrument for recording the earth's tremors, at the university's Cathedral of Learning.

Woodcock Brands N. Y. Task 'Simple'

NEW YORK, April 13 (AP).—Amos W. W. Woodcock, national prohibition director, said today the survey of Manhattan speakeasies recently completed by his forces had shown him the problem of prohibition enforcement here was much simpler than he had believed it to be.

The survey, he said, would be used in a constant, non-spectacular program looking to law enforcement. Woodcock said there were considerably fewer speakeasies in New York than there were a year ago, but declined to give any figures.

Baby Born, Midget's Wife Seeks Reunion

MEMPHIS, Tenn., April 13 (INS).—Birth of a six and one-half-pound baby girl to Baroness Jozippe Paucci, 17-year-old estranged wife of "Baron" Paucci, vaudeville midget, today brought hope of reuniting the couple. The mother, of normal proportions, said:

"She's the image of her father. I'm sure she will bring him back to me."

TAX ON BEER DEMANDED IN SENATE

Manufacturers' Counsel Says Levy Would Raise $270,000,000 Annually

WASHINGTON, April 13.—(AP).—Beer as a source of revenue was thrust back into the tax dispute today before the Senate Finance Committee.

James A. Emery, counsel for the National Association of Manufacturers, called for amendment of the Volstead act and the regulated manufacture of a cereal beverage which he said would produce $270,000,000 revenue annually. He said:

"We are concerned neither with the pros or cons of prohibition. The only issue is whether we shall have beer, with or without revenue.

"We urge the permissible manufacture of a palatable non-intoxicant, competing with an illicit beverage to produce revenue in a national emergency."

MILLS ACCUSED

Emery appeared after Senator Harrison (Dem.), of Mississippi, had accused Secretary Mills of not playing fair with the Finance Committee in referring it to the original Treasury revenue plan rather than submitting new proposals.

The letter by Mills to the committee said he preferred either the original Treasury plan or the revenue bill as it was reported by the House Ways and Means Committee to the measure passed by the House and now before the Finance Committee. He offered to go before the committee at any time to aid in changing the bill, however.

When Senator Smoot interposed to say that Mills was "ready to co-operate" with the Senate committee, Harrison asserted:

"He's camouflaging. Why does he refuse to co-operate here as he did with the House committee? He is not willing to assume the responsibility in the crisis in view of what's gone before."

FIRE ROUTS 6 OF FAMILY

Four volunteer fire companies from Ross Township communities struggled to combat a blaze which destroyed the residence of Mrs. Mary Gresh in the Seville plan early today.

Mrs. Gresh and her children, John, 21; Edward, 18; Helen, 17; Hazel, 16, and Dorothy, 10, were forced out of the two-story dwelling clad in night attire. Helen assisted Dorothy from the house.

The fire, according to firemen, began in the cellar of the house from an overheated furnace. Fire Chief George F. Brunner, of the Seville district fire department, estimated the loss at $10,000.

Lambert, Ex-Drug Firm Head, Ends Life

SALISBURY, Md., April 13.—(AP).—Arthur Lambert, 64, former head of the Lambert Pharmacal Company, of St. Louis, died here last night from the effects of illuminating gas. After artificial respiration failed doctors advanced the theory of suicide. Authorities accepted the physicians' report. Lambert and his wife had been visiting her mother, Mrs. William B. Tilghman, Sr., here. He had retired from business and was said to have met financial reverses.

Marguerite Potter Wins $9,375 Balm

BOSTON, April 13.—(INS).—Miss Marguerite Potter, New York musician and poetess, was awarded $9,375 today in a sealed verdict opened in Federal Court in her $100,000 breach of promise suit against Carroll Tillman, well-known Boston economist. Miss Potter testified that she was wooed during a whirlwind courtship aboard a steamship on a West Indian cruise and later "deserted" in a hotel in Baltimore.

Farms Plundered By Hungry Yaquis

HERMOSILLO, Sonora, April 13.—(AP).—A band of marauding Yaqui Indians swooped down from their stronghold in the Bacatete Mountains yesterday and plundered many ranches near Moscobampo, Ortiz and La Misa. No casualties were reported, but herds of cattle were stolen.

SULLIVAN GETS BALLOT CHANGE

A last minute change in listing his name to prevent confusion on the primary election ballot was allowed Congressman P. J. Sullivan today in Common Pleas Court when Judge Thomas M. Marshall granted a writ of mandamus upon petition presented by Attorney J. P. McArdle.

The petition, naming County Commissioners and John W. Vickerman, head of the Election Bureau, granted the wording on the ballot to be changed from "Patrick J. Sullivan, Congressman" to "P. J. Sullivan, Congressman." The move was made to prevent confusion with the name of the rival candidate, Patrick Joseph Sullivan, East Liberty carpenter, McArdle said.

GERMANY BANS HITLER 'NAZIS'

BERLIN, April 13.—(AP).—Adolf Hitler's National Socialist "storm troops" were declared illegal throughout the country by a government decree today.

The ban affects 400,000 "nazis" organized on military lines and referred to by their political opponents as Hitler's "pretorian guard" sometimes as "the state within a state."

Chancellor Bruening considered this extraordinary action so important that he delayed his departure for the disarmament conference at Geneva a full day to deliberate its every step and consequence.

Reporter Beaten, Accuses Constable

MOUNDSVILLE, W. Va., April 13.—Raymond M. Miller, a reporter, today complained to the prosecuting attorney that he had been beaten by John LeHew, constable of Justice W. E. Clayton's office. Miller said the attack was occasioned by an article in yesterday's Journal complaining of brutality by constables in connection with the coal mine strike and also in the handling of liquor cases.

HOOVER URGES 5-DAY WEEK

WASHINGTON, April 13 (INS).—President Hoover today proposed the introduction of the principle of the five-day week throughout the government service in a revised plan to effect a reduction of $95,000,000 in the pay and allowances of government workers.

The revised plan was submitted to the House Economy Committee by Director of the Budget Roop shortly before the committee prepared to renew its economy conferences at the White House.

The new plan of the President, which is a substitute for the proposed 11 per cent cut in pay with exemptions of $1,000 suggested by the Economy Committee, includes also elimination of all annual leaves with pay and eliminations of allowances to rural mail carriers for vehicle maintenance.

Robbers Crack Safe In Donora Office

DONORA, Pa., April 13 (AP).—Crackmen chiseled the combination from a safe in the office of Cromer Colgan & Simms, real estate dealers, last night and escaped with several hundred dollars in cash. The robbery was discovered this morning.

The child was to be delivered on board a certain yacht. Col. Lindbergh, who flew to the appointed place and found no yacht and no child, has said:

"I will not pay another penny in ransom until the child has been placed in my arms."

When the present search is ended it is predicted by his friends that Col. Lindbergh will become leader of a movement to abate the present highly organized crime menace.

Whether his child be found, as all hope it will be, or not, Col. Lindbergh should make an efficient leader in an anti-crime movement.

State Police Return 3 Robbery Suspects

Waiving extradition, three Ohio men yesterday were brought back by state police to face charges in connection with the robbery of the A. R. Ellenberger general store, Washington Township, Armstrong County, Sunday.

Troopers John McEwen and Louis Lloyd reported recovering about $700 of the merchandise. The men arrested are George Davis, 45, of Struthers, O., and Harold Davis, 22, and Nelson Sarahs, 50, of Youngstown.

TWO GIVE BOND IN BOMBING

Immediately after having been found guilty in Criminal Court today of possessing a bomb, two McKeesport men were taken to the office of the county detectives for questioning in connection with the mysterious fire which destroyed a two-story brick apartment in McKeesport yesterday. The men are Dominick LaBella, of 901 Bellevue avenue, and August Shiava, of 2804 Stewart street. They were later released on bond pending disposition of a motion for a new trial.

The prosecution exploded a demonstration bomb in the courtroom during the trial.

LaBella and Shiava have been out on bail since January 21, when state police arrested them on the McKeesport bridge. State police testified the two men were riding in an automobile containing a bomb made of black powder. The fire started in an empty first floor apartment in which investigators later are alleged to have found gasoline, dynamite and a fuse.

Last Two in Store Holdup Here Given Freedom

Rufus Costner, 32, with one-third of his life spent behind prison walls, is enroute today to his native Tennessee and its magnolias.

Shortly after midnight, Costner was released from the Rockview penitentiary, where he had served half of a 20-year sentence for his part in the murder of James H. Neale, Boggs & Buhl messenger, killed in a $49,000 holdup in front of the store.

About the same time today Harry Brooks, another member of the gang who staged the robbery, an auto was released from Riverside penitentiary in Woods Run, where he had served a similar term. He will remain in Pittsburgh. A third member, Gilbert Kelly, Swissvale youth, was released last December and the fourth member, Ben Stokes, alleged leader of the gang, never was apprehended. Police said he fled with the greater part of the cash loot. The checks were recovered.

TRANSIT COMMISSION HOLDS SUBWAY REPORT FOR STUDY

COSTS ON LOOP PROPOSALS READY

Council Action Delayed While Board Ponders Its Decision on New Plan

The City Transit Commission's estimates on costs of the proposed subway have been completed for several days, but will not be offered to City Council until the commission has further studied the subway plan, according to well informed sources.

The subway proposed by Norman F. Brown and Edward Snodgrass, Jr., is different from that recommended by the Transit Commission in a recent report.

The route of the Transit Commission's subway plan was Smithfield street, Seventh avenue, Liberty avenue, Ferry street and Third avenue. The Brown-Snodgrass plan would place the tube under Grant street, Liberty avenue, Ferry and Water streets.

CONGESTION RELIEF

Each plan would remove from the surface of the downtown streets all of the cars crossing the Smithfield Street Bridge, about 25 per cent of the total in the downtown area. In addition, the Brown-Snodgrass plan contemplates short looping of other lines at the edge of the triangle.

President John S. Herron, of City Council, yesterday inquired in the Finance Committee meeting how soon the report of the Transit Commission would be ready. Snodgrass, who was present, was asked if he had heard from the commission. He replied he had not, but had expected that their report would be filed last week.

Numerous civic organizations are awaiting the report of the Transit Commission before revealing their stand on the subway problem. A meeting of the commission has been called for tomorrow.

WHARF PLANS READY

Detailed plans of the river wall suggested by Brown and Snodgrass have been prepared by Charles M. Reppert, Chief City Engineer. This improvement would be within the harbor line and would require the approval of government engineers.

A platform for parking is to be supported by an arched wall and on columns, according to plans. Lower levels have been designed to accommodate navigation interests. The wall would be built from Ninth to Stanwix streets along the Allegheny River at a cost of approximately $600,000.

Lower levels of the wharf would be connected with the street level by ramps. In times of high water a floating platform moored along the face of the outer wall would provide a dock for river craft. Cranes for moving freight could be mounted along the outer river wall, it is stated.

Weather Conditions.

The clouds and snow flurry conditions prevailing over this section remained nearly stationary although the disturbance responsible for the condition moved farther into the northeast. It is still showing over the lower lake region, and over Ohio and Western Pennsylvania, and cloudiness is getting in over the plains states, due to a new pressure area, centered over Oklahoma. There was a change to colder weather over the eastern states, freezing temperatures occurred as far south as Virginia, while over the plains states the temperatures are rising slowly.

WESTINGHOUSE ELECTS BRUCE

David K. E. Bruce, son-in-law of Andrew W. Mellon recently appointed ambassador to England and former Secretary of the Treasury, was elected a director of the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company at the annual meeting today.

Bruce is a lawyer, with offices at 230 Park avenue, New York City. At one time he was in the United States diplomatic service, attached to the State Department in Washington and was assistant vice consul at Rome. Later he was associated with the Bankers' Trust Company and with W. A. Harriman Company, of New York. Within the last two years Bruce has been named to the boards of directors of 12 outstanding corporations, among them the Aluminum Company of America.

Crooner-Bigamist Betrayed by Song

SANTA ANA, Cal., April 13.—(AP.)—A 28-year-old radio crooner, Charles Harold Nye, whose next-to-latest wife discovered his whereabouts by unexpectedly tuning in on one of his programs from San Antonio, Tex., was found guilty yesterday of bigamy, and a probation hearing was set in Superior Court for April 22.

He was convicted of marrying Louise Russo, 18, of San Diego, Cal., while still married to Frances Reid Nye, of Hawthorne, Cal.

Pittsburgh Estate Rebated $179,000

WASHINGTON, April 13.—(AP.)—The Internal Revenue Bureau announced a tax adjustment yesterday to the estate of Mary M. Bindley, of Pittsburgh, making an abatement of $176,306 and a refund of $3,041, due to overassessment, principally on account of state inheritance taxes paid subsequently to filing the federal estate tax return.

ULSTER CHIEF VISITS LONDON IN CRISIS

Statement in British Note Believed Behind Journey Of Viscount Craigavon

LONDON, April 13.—(AP.)—The unexpected arrival of Viscount Craigavon, premier of Northern Ireland, and Attorney General A. B. Babington created increased interest in the Irish situation here today.

Viscount Craigavon said although the situation was delicate he did not take a serious view of it. He said he hoped to see Prime Minister MacDonald and J. H. Thomas, dominion secretary, during his visit.

ALARM IN NORTH

It was widely believed the Viscount's visit was in connection with expressions of alarm in Northern Ireland over one sentence in the most recent British note to President De Valera. That sentence read:

"As to the future, His Majesty's government feels it sufficient to state that in its opinion there can be no conceivable hope for establishment of a united Ireland except on the basis that its allegiance to the crown and its membership in the British commonwealth will continue unimpaired."

In official circles today it was said that there had been no suggestion for any change in the position of Northern Ireland nor for using Ulster as an instrument in the negotiations between the British and the Free State government.

HUNT SECRET PACT

DUBLIN, Irish Free State, April 13.—(AP.)—A search for an alleged secret agreement between the former Cosgrave government and England, in which J. H. Thomas, British secretary for the dominions, said the Free State was committed to pay land annuities, was being made by officials of President De Valera's government today.

A member of former President Cosgrave's government assured a correspondent of Reuter's News Agency last night that the document, dated February, 1923, exists and said it bore the signatures of Cosgrave and a representative of the British government.

Publication of an exchange of notes between the British and Free State governments yesterday disclosed that President De Valera challenged the British government to produce evidence that the Free State had signed any such commitment.

NEW BOMB NOTE SENT COUNTY

A second unsigned, typewritten letter, threatening to blow up the courthouse and five other "big buildings" unless $5,000 was paid over was received by the County Commissioners today. The writer claimed responsibility for yesterday's attempted dynamiting of a McKeesport rooming house.

Believing the letters the work of a crank, the commissioners asked for no extra police protection. However, county detectives, tipstaves and building police were instructed to watch for suspicious-looking persons or packages. No instructions for payment of the money were contained in the letters.

Brighton Road Store Damaged by Flames

A blaze early today damaged the George K. Stevenson Company grocery at 3900 Brighton road. The fire started in the basement of the one-story cement building and worked through the flooring to the rear of the store.

Battalion Chief Dan Jones estimated the damage at $5,000. Firemen put on masks to enter the building.

BRIBE OFFERED IN BIG LIQUOR SEIZURE

Camouflaged $25,000 Cargo Of Rum Captured in Truck In Westmoreland County

State police of the Greensburg barracks seized a cargo of fine liquors valued, they say, at $25,000 and camouflaged as dress goods, on the William Penn highway at New Alexandria, Westmoreland County, today.

Private Carl Cotterick, in charge of the detail, informed his superiors the driver of a large moving van hauling the liquor in packing boxes, flashed a huge roll of bills and offered him $10,000 to let him through to Pittsburgh.

The driver, Moses Joseph, 23, and his helper, Frank Damic, 23, both of Detroit, and employed, they said, by the Curley Transportation Company, of Detroit, were arrested charged with violating the liquor laws. The van and liquor were removed to the barracks. Federal prohibition agents here were notified and went to get the cargo.

According to Pvt. Cotterick one of his men struck one of the boxes with a hammer, breaking two bottles and disclosing the contents of the boxes.

The troopers said the arrested men told them the liquor was brought into New Jersey by boat and that they got the shipment at Trenton.

MILLER FIRM IN RECEIVERSHIP

The Colonial Trust Company, B. F. Upham and W. G. Montgomery, today were named temporary receivers of the Miller Printing Machinery Company of Pittsburgh, by Federal Judge R. M. Gibson. The appointment was made following the filing of a suit in equity by the Union Trust Company of Cleveland, which alleged that the Miller company owes that bank $100,000, which was due on January 4.

The bill states the Miller company is solvent, but is unable to meet maturing obligations; that the defendant company and its subsidiaries have an aggregate value far in excess of its indebtedness.

Assets of the Miller company are given as approximately $3,000,000, with liabilities of approximately $600,000. The business of the company will not be interrupted.

Receivers are to take charge of all properties of the company and the capital stock of its subsidiaries, which include the Pittsburgh Gray Iron Foundry Company, Point Building Land Company and Miller Printing Machine Company of Canada.

30-Hour Week Urged To Aid City Jobless

The Allegheny County American Legion today petitioned Council to limit workers on city contracts to 30 hours a week in batting unemployment.

The delegation, headed by Charles W. McGinnis, vice chairman of the state Legion unemployment committee, asked an ordinance whereby all contracts for public improvements contain such a clause. It was explained more men could be given work. Council took the proposal under advisement.

SIGNAL OF BLIND BARES TRAGEDY

WOODSTOCK, Ill., April 13.—(AP.)—There was a story of tragedy on the mail box near the home of Lizzie Furney, 65, yesterday.

Around the box was a pair of trousers and the rural mail carrier, making his regular rounds, knew it was a signal that something was wrong.

Hurrying to the house he found the woman had been burned to death.

Her two brothers, both blind and deaf, sensing that she was on fire, were helpless to aid her because they could neither see nor hear, and draped the mail box with the trousers to attract attention.

Investigators said it was apparent the woman's clothing had been ignited when she tried to start a fire in a stove.

She had been taking care of the blind brothers for years, and had learned their sign language.

One Man Killed In Duel in Street

HUNTINGTON, W. Va., April 13.—(AP.)—One man was killed and another was wounded slightly when they fought a duel with shotguns on a Huntington street today.

Arnold Fuller, 60, died in a hospital from wounds inflicted by K. W. Perry, 50, who was treated in the city jail for buckshot wounds. The men argued over a bill in a grocery store owned by Fuller.

Former N. Y. Writer Guilty in Blackmail

LONDON, April 13.—(INS.)—Illes Brody, a former New York free lance writer, was found guilty in Old Bailey Court today of attempting to blackmail two unidentified American women, sisters and both divorcees.

He was sentenced to serve 10 months in jail and recommended for deportation at the expiration of his term.

Three Men Held In Numbers Raids

Pete Katsafanos, 303 Market street, and John Curry, 531 Wylie avenue, were held for court under $2,500 bail on charges of operating a lottery by Magistrate Leo Rothenberg today. Steve Williams, 403 Kirkpatrick street, was held over pending investigation. They were arrested in "numbers" raids yesterday.

Lieut. Massie Sends Cheer to Mother In Kentucky

HONOLULU, April 13.—(AP.)—Lieut. Thomas H. Massie, one of the four on trial here for the lynching of Joseph Kahahawai, asked the Associated Press last night to transmit the following message to his mother, Mrs. W. S. Massie, of Winchester, Ky.:

"Dearest Mother—Please don't worry. Have courage and everything will be all right. Love.—Tommy."

Despite the evident strain to which he has been subjected as the prosecution weaves its circumstantial story against him and his mother-in-law, Mrs. Granville Fortescue, and two enlisted men of the Navy, Lieut. Massie relaxes during the 10-minute recesses every hour of the short daily court session.

VOLCANIC GASES HALT SURVEY

By NORMAN INGREY
International News Service.

VALPARAISO, Chile, April 13.—(INS.)—Although the Andean volcanoes were quieter today and the rain of ashes had ceased to fall in most localities, the grumbling craters still emitted dust and smoke which prevented aerial surveyors from approaching them closely.

The fate of herdsmen and country-folk in many of the foothill regions remained unknown.

It was possible that lava may have destroyed habitations near several of the volcanoes, while it was not at all unlikely that the gases and dust-filled air which affected cities as much as 600 miles away had taken a heavy toll of death and injury in regions nearer the belching mountains.

Pittsburgh Balm Suit Retrial Asked

ALLIANCE, O., April 13.—(INS.)—An appeal for a new trial in the breach of promise suit in which Miss Grace Priehs, of Pittsburgh, was awarded $10,000 against Arthur H. Geiger, of Alliance, was on file in Federal Court today by Attorney Marvin C. Harris.

Attorney Harris requested the court to advance the date for an oral hearing to permit him to become familiar with the records of the case.

NATIVE MOTHER TO TESTIFY

has entered their family has not drawn them together.

Mrs. Anita will be but a single link in the strong chain of evidence that Kelley is forging. Police officers have testified to every tiny detail of the kidnaping of Kahahawai and the finding of his body in Mrs. Fortescue's car.

Silent witnesses—the blood-stained sheets with which the body was wrapped, the rope used to bind the shroud, even the signet ring of the dead youth—have been waved before the jury by the adroit prosecution, and almost without objection from Chief Defense Counsel Clarence Darrow.

The only clash between opposing counsel came over the ring. The defense protested that it was irrelevant, but Judge Charles S. Davis finally admitted it in evidence.

The apparent indifference of the super-clever Darrow to the strong net of circumstantial evidence surrounding his clients has led court observers to believe his defense will consist in a startling "coup."

KELLEY LAYS PLANS

Kelley believes that the mainspring of the defense plan lies in Lieut. Massie. The young Naval lieutenant will shoulder the blame for the killing, pleading justifiable homicide, the legal term for the "unwritten law," according to Kelley's deductions of Darrow's scheme.

To circumvent this, the young prosecutor is carefully erecting what would seem to be an unbreakable wall around the defendants.

One state witness, however, has given testimony that may be of aid to Darrow as he seeks to prove the great emotional strain that Massie was under as the result of the brutal attack on his wife.

Percy Bond, a policeman testifying for the state, recounted how Lieut. Massie congratulated himself when he was placed under arrest after Mrs. Fortescue's car, containing the body of Kahahawai, had been halted.

Bond reached the scene shortly after the machine had been stopped by revolver shots. He said to a detective friend:

"Good work, kid."

Lieut. Massie, who was standing nearby, thought the remark was addressed to him, according to Bond's testimony, and asked:

"'Are you talking to me?'"

"Without waiting for a reply he shook hands with himself and said:

"'Thank you very much.'"

15-OUNCE BABY MAKES CLAIM TO TITLE

Weighs Three Pounds After 3 Months, But Was Size Of Man's Hand at Birth

YOUNGSTOWN, O., April 13.—(AP.)—Eugene Albert Jordan, three months old today, spoke up with a lusty howl to tell the world the real champion of featherweight babies has been overlooked.

Eugene weighed just 15 ounces when born January 13. His length was no greater than that of an ordinary man's hand. His wrists were the size of a lead pencil and his head no bigger than a small orange.

Today, he's over three pounds and his doctor said he believed he would grow up to be a normal child.

FAMILY OF MIDGETS

Eugene is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Emmett Jordan, of Craig Beach, Lake Milton, near here. He comes from a family of tiny babies and twins.

The Jordans live in a summer cottage which they have to keep at blood heat, 98 degrees, most of the time so Eugene will survive. During the day he sleeps on a washstand in a corner, with hot water bottles at his feet and abdomen, and a coal-burning stove nearby. For a time he was kept packed in hot water bottles.

For the first 10 days, 25 drops of milk from a medicine dropper were a full meal for Eugene. Now he banquets on a full ounce at a time.

PACES 1-POUND BABY

CRANE Mo., April 13.—(AP.)—Charles Bernard St. John, Kansas City's one-pound baby, has little Billy Jean Henderson as a pacesetter in the race of life.

Billy Jean also weighed one pound at birth. That was March 7. Passing the age of one month, he now weighs two pounds.

His parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Henderson, say he has normal characteristics and is heading rapidly toward manly vigor.

Charles Bernard must wait a week before the trip to the scales which will show what 12 meals a day—one teaspoonful of milk for each—have done for him since his birth April 4.

The doctor told his parents, Mr. and Mrs. William St. John, he couldn't stand the exposure and handling just now.

Both fathers are 18 years old. Both mothers are 17.

2 FINED IN COX RELIEF THEFT

Two youths today admitted in Morals Court they had stolen 100 baskets from Old St. Patrick's Church, Liberty avenue and Seventeenth street, and sold them to produce yard merchants for 5 cents each.

Magistrate T. D. Jones fined them $10 each with the option of 10 days in jail.

William Sutton, 17, who said he worked in the church for Father James R. Cox's relief organization, told of digging a hole in the church wall to get the baskets out. Edward P. Awlicki, 19, of 2117 Mulberry way, helped him carry them away, he said.

Chester Waddle, a member of the Father Cox Relief Committee, told the court the baskets were used to collect contributions from the produce merchants for use in the church's relief work.

Two Girls Trapped, Hold Up Policeman

NEW YORK, April 13.—(AP.)—Two young women who, police said, have been making a practice of asking motorists in Brooklyn and Queens for a ride and then robbing them at the point of a revolver, were in the police lineup today because they made a mistake last night and selected a policeman for their intended victim.

The women described themselves as Alice Bennington, 24, and May Bennington, 21, sisters, and said they had no home.

Robbery Suspects Flee W. Va. Jail

BUCKHANNON, W. Va., April 13.—(AP.)—A few hours before they were scheduled to be arraigned in Circuit Court on charges of robbery, James Jack, Adrian and Sterling Tenney, French Creek, broke out of the Upshur County Jail here early this morning. The bars of a second-story window were sawed in two and an automobile axle was used to pry the bars apart.

BUDGET VOTED IN DETROIT

DETROIT, Apr. 13 (AP). The City Council passed for months without a budget last night, a $72,000,000 budget based on estimated tax receipts of $ during the fiscal year beginning today.

Although the budget is practically a balanced one, the city will have a balance of $ at the end of the year, by which time it is expected 50 per cent of the $ will be collected. The remainder will be collected in 1933.

This is the first time in the history of the city that a budget has been passed before the beginning of the fiscal year, and it was made possible only by drastic economy measures, including a 10 per cent reduction in the salaries of city employes. Even with this reduction, the budget is $ less than the amount appropriated for the current year.

It was necessary to make drastic reductions in the budget, and while the effect will be felt by city employes and by the public generally, it is expected that the economy measures will have a beneficial effect.

PATRIOTIC PLEA BY HUMPHREY

The United States needs men who will exercise patriotism as exemplified in England and Germany, President A. L. Humphrey of the Westinghouse Airbrake Company said today discussing recent happenings in Washington. Humphrey has just returned from a two-month trip to California. In discussing conditions he said:

"This country needs men like Ramsay MacDonald, of Great Britain. I heard him deliver an address in London that was a real thriller. To him it is his country before politics. The crying need of the hour in America is for men who can rise above politics. The recent spectacle witnessed in Congress and action by that body in taxing the rich has given everybody something vital to think about."

COYNE ASSAILED BY WUERTHELE

Sportsmen Indorse Two for Legislature

To my vision it has long appeared that our office of State Senator from this district is being built into that of a political demagogue. Recent events have proved that State Senator Coyne cares more for his political progress than he ever dreamed of accomplishing as a statesman.

I cannot figure how Coyne rates leadership for the Vare machine in this end of the state when he has never led his followers to any victory in Allegheny County. A successful leadership is supposed to be based on victories.

I honestly believe the people are going to retire Mr. Coyne. They are going to do this not only to take him out of the Senate but to prevent his interference in Pittsburgh and Allegheny County politics.

REOPENING OF 2 BANKS PUSHED

Progress toward rehabilitation of two closed banks was reported today by depositors' committees with a general meeting of depositors of the Homewood-Brushton Bank and the Homewood Bank opened for liquidation of the Pennsylvania Bank and Trust Company.

The Homewood meeting will be held tomorrow night at 8 o'clock in the Homewood Carnegie Library, Lang and Hamilton avenues. J. C. Chaplin, president of the Colonial Trust Company, trustee for subscriptions being obtained for new capital, will be the principal speaker.

Sale of stock in the proposed reorganization of the Pennsylvania Bank was reported progressing at the offices of the Thomas McCaffrey Company, 3509 Butler street, where headquarters have been opened. R. W. Kaiser, chairman of the reorganization group, and other committee members will be at the headquarters daily. The plan calls for $200,000 new capital, $120,000 surplus and reduction of mortgages by $300,000.

DANVILLE, Pa., April 13 (AP).—Reuben Shook and his son Luther, 20, of Montoursville, and John Maley, 34, of Barbours Mills, were sentenced to terms of 10 to 20 years in the Eastern Penitentiary yesterday for robbing the Farmers National Bank at Exchange, October 30. They were also fined $1,000 each and costs.

Summer Schedule At State Capitol

HARRISBURG, April 13 (AP).—Effective Monday, April 25, all state departments under the jurisdiction of the Governor will go on their summer schedule of working hours. Employes will work from 8 o'clock to 4 on week days and on Saturdays from 8 to 11 standard time.

The state law prohibits the adoption of daylight saving in governmental departments.

Australia Seeks Modern 'Pied Piper'

MELBOURNE, April 13 (INS).—Inhabitants of the Wimmera and Mallee districts of Australia sent out appeals for a modern pied piper today to free them from a plague of mice believed unprecedented in Australian history. The rodents have taken virtual control of the region, destroying livestock and stores and resisting all attempts to exterminate them.

Widow Dies From Grief for Husband

VANDERGRIFT, Pa., April 13.—Grief over the death of her husband, yesterday joined Mrs. Caroline Rossi, 61, in death with the man to whom she was married more than 40 years ago. Her husband, Frank, was stricken with paralysis while working in his garden three weeks ago and died five days later.

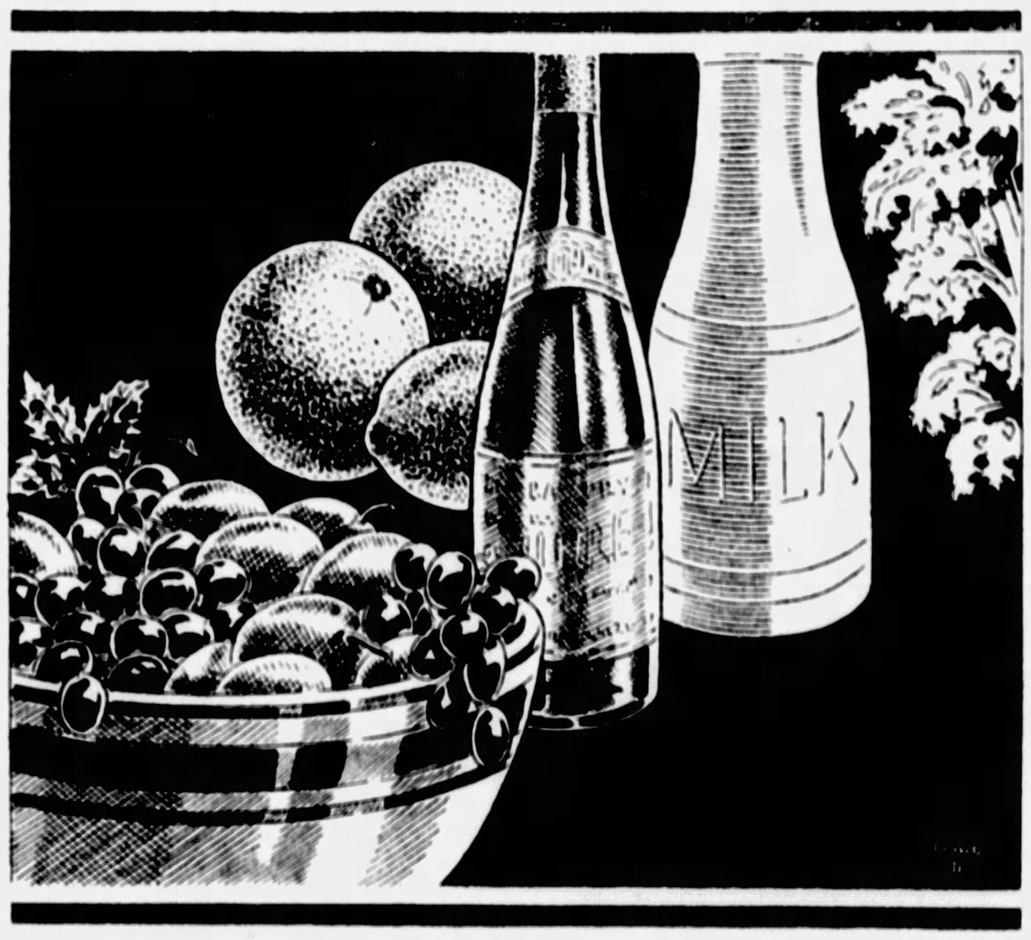
The New Thrift Idea . . .

ELECTRIC REFRIGERATION



AN ELECTRIC Refrigerator is more than a home convenience. It effects actual savings that put it in the investment class.

A good Electric Refrigerator makes possible many noteworthy savings. In the same trays that freeze ice, you can make dozens of delectable frozen salads and desserts that increase your popularity as a hostess.

Then there's the matter of food preservation. In the clean, dry cold of an Electric Refrigerator, foods stay fresh and wholesome for days on end. Spoilage is practically unkown. And because foods stay fresh and palatable so long you can safely buy in larger quantities and get the benefit of quantity prices . . . another important saving.

So in these days when thrift and economy are the style, it's only natural that more Electric Refrigerators are being purchased than ever before.

Why not plan to get yours now? A very small down payment puts any model in your home. Call today at your nearest dealer who handles a well known make of Electric Refrigerator . . . see the newest models . . . and learn about the many advantages of Electric Refrigeration by means of an actual demonstration.

'Jafsie,' Kidnapers in Contact

home from a mysterious trip on which he embarked with a suitcase the same as he carried on a secret mission last week. He was driven from his home by his companion in the negotiations, Al Reich, a former police fighter.

His trip followed a secret conference at his home with Col. Henry Breckinridge, Lindbergh's legal adviser.

While the Norfolk trio of Lindbergh envoys still continued in quest of its aim of establishing contact with the kidnapers, two of them coming for conferences with Lindbergh, the latter seemed to pin his main faith in having his child restored to him on Dr. Condon.

Meanwhile the search for Harry Fleischer, wanted for questioning in the kidnaping, has led to Canada and authorities reported today that he was seen during the past week at St. John's.

SEEK TO BALK VOYAGE

Col. H. Norman Schwarzkopf said police were very anxious to talk with Fleischer and that Canadian authorities had reported that he was on his way to Halifax with the evident intention of taking a boat from there to England. Schwarzkopf admitted he had asked Canadian authorities to apprehend Fleischer and that they were following his trail closely, with high hopes of catching him in Halifax.

Schwarzkopf denied that any of the ransom money paid by Col. Lindbergh has as yet been found in circulation. He said, however, that as soon as any of the bills turn up the tenders will be investigated.

Maj. Charles H. Schoeffel, second in command of the New Jersey state police, is still in England, Schwarzkopf reported, and he will remain there until his mission is completed. Again Schwarzkopf refused to divulge the nature of Schoeffel's errand.

ANNE'S COLLAPSE DENIED

Schwarzkopf issued a denial of reports that Mrs. Anne Morrow Lindbergh collapsed at the home atop Sourland Mountain near Hopewell, N. J., from which Charles Augustus Lindbergh Jr. was stolen March 1.

Her condition, he said, remained about the same as it has been for several weeks throughout which the abducted child's mother was reported as bearing up with unusual fortitude.

Mrs. John Grier Hibben, wife of the president of Princeton University, visited the Lindbergh home yesterday.

She admitted she conveyed a "message" to Mrs. Lindbergh but refused to disclose its nature.

Morrow Summer Home Activity Spurs Baby Hunt

FALMOUTH, Mass., April 13 (INS)—As word came from North Haven, Me., today of activities at the Dwight W. Morrow summer home, leading villagers to believe that an early occupancy was planned, search for the Lindbergh baby and his kidnapers continued with vigor on Cape Cod and adjacent islands.

Latest features of the Southern Massachusetts hunt were:

Search for two women, thought to be those through whom curly-headed Charles A. Lindbergh, Jr., was to be finally given to his father, who were revealed to have waited on an edgartown wharf for two hours Sunday, April 3, before disappearing in a tan-colored sedan. The kidnapers, it was reported, sent a note to Dr. John F. Condon, "Jafsie" author, declaring the child would be found with the two women off Gay Head, and that they were innocent of any part in the kidnaping.

Continued hunt for a member of a former Cuttynunk family last seen in New Bedford, wanted for questioning in connection with the abduction. The husband was the man for whom Dr. Condon asked when he flew to Cuttynunk.

Dean Sees New Contact In Absence of Aides

NORFOLK, Va., April 13 (AP)—The prolonged absence of John H. Curtis and Admiral Guy H. Burrage today placed the Very Rev. H. Dobson-Peacock in an optimistic frame of mind. He interpreted the absence as indicative of a new contact with kidnapers of the Lindbergh baby. He said:

"I would imagine a new contact has been made, but I don't know. The prolonged absence is indicative of progress."

The faith of the Norfolk trio seeking to bring about the return of the baby through 'go-betweens' who approached Curtis, has not been shaken, he said, despite the payment of $50,000 ransom by Col. Lindbergh by persons who failed to return the baby.

Man With Lindy Notes Arrested in Ontario

ST. THOMAS, Ontario, April 13 (AP)—A man claiming to be D. D. Dickerson of New York City, was arrested here today in connection with the Lindbergh kidnaping. Police said he carried letters addressed to Col. Lindbergh and Mrs. Dwight Morrow, mother of Mrs. Lindbergh, together with carbon copies of telegrams believed to have been sent to Col. Lindbergh.

NEW YORK, April 13 (AP)—Police today said they had no knowledge of any D. D. Dickerson, of New York, the name given by a man arrested in St. Thomas, Ontario, in connection with the Lindbergh kidnaping.

There is no police record of any such man and police here said they had not been informed of the arrest or asked for any information regarding the prisoner.

Trace Lindy Ransom Bill Passed in New York

WASHINGTON, April 13 (AP)—One of the $20 notes paid to the Lindbergh kidnapers was reported here today to have been passed in New York City and turned over to the New York Police Department by the Secret Service.

Secret Service agents in New York city identified the bill and reported their finding to the police to enable the latter to attempt to trace he note. It was added, however, that it probably would be impossible to trace the note to its source in New York.

Police in Stockholm Hunt Lindy's Baby

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, April 13 (AP)—Police received orders today to search the city for the kidnaped Lindbergh baby. Pictures of the missing child appeared on the front pages of all the newspapers.

National Air Pilots Broke, Disband

CLEVELAND, April 13—(AP)—The National Air Pilots' Association, which once included Col. Charles A. Lindbergh and other famous fliers, has been disbanded, its headquarters here explained today for lack of finances.

Originally named the Air Mail Pilots' Association, the organization was formed 12 years ago and at one time had 1,500 members. Dean Smith, pilot on the Byrd Antarctic expedition, was its last president. Honorary members included Harry F. New, former postmaster general, and Will Rogers.

HOW THE ENGLISH REDUCE 6 OR 7 POUNDS WEEKLY

Yet Eat, Drink All They Want

Recently Brought Here from England, the Andrews Method of Quick Fat Reduction Enables Overweight People to Lose 6 or More Pounds a Week Without Starvation or Weakening Exercises.

It seems that the British have found a way to rip off excess fat that's the dream of every too-fat person. That is, to rip it off without starving, without tiring exercise.

Under an extraordinarily simple and pleasant regimen discovered there, the average fat person loses as much as six to ten pounds weekly, yet suffers no pangs of hunger, no aching muscles, no weakness or depression. Returning travelers from Europe talked so much about it, that it has now been brought to this country. Anyone can follow it, so if you want to get thin, here's your chance.

Eat, Sleep, Drink and Grow Thin Doing Only This

All the method involves is a glass of water before breakfast—to clear the intestines and tone the system—and a few minor changes in your diet.

Here is what you do: Tear this article out and save it, so you won't forget.

Before Breakfast. Drink an ordinary tumbler full of cool water to which you've added a teaspoon of effervescent salt. (Get the brand named "Andrews" at any drug store.) This to eliminate the usual curse of fat people, accumulated poisons and bloat. Also to cut the moisture weight of your body—sometimes as much as three pounds in one day.

At Meals. Cut out ONLY fat meats. Eat your usual quantities of lean meats and ADD a double supply of green vegetables—spinach, cabbage, fresh peas, lettuce, etc. Then for dessert, shift from pastry and pies to FRESH FRUIT. The more you eat of these the better. They're super-nourishing vitamin foods.

Drink, too, if you like them, sauerkraut juice, tomato juice or orange juice "cocktails" before lunch and supper. Eat fresh fruit, too, before bed if you like to eat before retiring.

That's all you do. No wonder England and all of Europe is cheering this discovery. You lose weight day by day, week by week—usually from six or seven pounds weekly to even as much as ten pounds—and feel amazingly more alert and active while you are. Doctors of world knowledge widely endorse this way. The salt tones and clears the system. The vitamin foods take the place of those that build weight and fat, and thus fat goes like magic.

Embark on the Great Adventure of getting thin today. Ask your doctor about this if you wish to be doubly sure this is the simplest, safest way to lose embarrassing bulk. You can get Andrews Effervescent Salt at any drug store for a few cents.

WOMEN 'ANTIS' INDORSE DAVIS

WASHINGTON, April 13 (AP).—Senator James J. Davis today has the indorsement of the Pennsylvania delegation of the Women's Organization for National Prohibition Reform. Mrs. Joseph Dilworth of Pittsburgh was named co-chairman of the Pennsylvania committee in charge of a Repeal Week planned late in May.

Mrs. Graham Dougherty of Philadelphia said the Pennsylvanians had promised their support to Senator Davis because he has "publicly pledged himself to work and vote for the repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment." The groups plan a fight for congressmen, national convention delegates and local officials who favor repeal of the prohibition laws.

WASHINGTON, Pa., April 13.—Chartiers Presbytery of the United Presbyterian Church indorsed Gen. Smedley D. Butler for United States Senator and Henry W. Temple for Congress from the Washington-Greene district.

INDEPENDENTS SCORE DAVIS

Ray Sprigle, director of the County Bureau of Property and Supplies, and Attorney William A. Blair addressed a noon meeting in the Independent Republican headquarters today. Sprigle attacked the candidacy of Senator James J. Davis, declaring:

"If Jim Davis can keep the people of Pennsylvania thinking how thirsty they are; if he can keep the voters from looking into his record, he might slide into the United States Senate on a beer keg."

Gen. Smedley Butler, the Independent candidate for Senator, was described as "an administrator and a constructive builder."

Bristol to Quit Navy; Hero of Two Wars

WASHINGTON, April 13 (AP).—Rear Admiral Mark L. Bristol, chairman of the Naval General Board, Saturday will end one of the most brilliant careers in America's modern fighting forces.

Reaching that day the statutory age limit of 64 years, he must retire from service. His fighting service included participation in the Battle of Santiago in the Spanish-American War, convoy service in the American fleet and war zone operations with the British fleet during the World War.

Rollator refrigeration

ROLLATOR Refrigeration with its extra cooling power, its long life, its operating economy, has been built into a new Norge, the Alaska Model.

The Norge Alaska gives you the extra cooling power of the Rollator, not only at the lowest price ever before offered, but at the same time your daily refrigeration costs less . . . the powerful mechanism does not have to work so much and it uses less electric current to do its work.

For this advantage alone you should see this new Norge and learn about the exclusive advantages of the Rollator mechanism. It is extra powered, has only three moving parts, is almost everlasting.

Visit a Norge dealer and see this simple Rollator mechanism and how it refrigerates . . . inspect this new Norge Alaska . . . see its conveniences. The handy shelves are arranged at waist height, and every inside corner is rounded for easy cleaning. A spring-hinged, tight-sealing door protects the odor-proof freezing compartment. The defrosting switch and cold accelerator are located inside on the freezer shield. The cabinet is well made of quality material, sturdy, handsome and enduring.

Before another day goes by, decide to have up-to-date Rollator Refrigeration. And before you buy, see the Norge.

No. 101.

AN ORDINANCE Authorizing and directing the Mayor and the Director of the Department of Public Works of the City of Pittsburgh to make, execute and deliver in the name of and for the City of Pittsburgh a contract with the proper officers of the Pittsburgh Railways Company and the Mt. Washington Street Railways Company, for constructing a roadway or street crossing the private right-of-way and tracks of the Pittsburgh Railways Company to connect the two sections of Broadway at Pauline avenue, and providing for the payment of the cost thereof.

SECTION 1. Be it ordained and enacted by the City of Pittsburgh in Council assembled, and it is hereby ordained and enacted by the authority of the same, That the Mayor and the Director of the Department of Public Works of the City of Pittsburgh shall be and they are hereby authorized and directed to make, execute and deliver in the name of the City of Pittsburgh the following contract with the Pittsburgh Railways Company and the Mt. Washington Street Railways Company, and to affix thereto the corporate seal of the said City.

ARTICLES OF AGREEMENT

MADE and entered into this day of 1932, by and between the Pittsburgh Railways Company and the Mt. Washington Street Railways Company, both Pennsylvania corporations, hereinafter sometimes referred to as the "Railway Companies," parties of the first part, and the CITY OF PITTSBURGH, a municipal corporation of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, situate in the County of Allegheny, hereinafter sometimes referred to as the "City," party of the second part.

WITNESSETH

WHEREAS—The Pittsburgh Railways Company operates a double track street railway from the Mt. Washington Street Railway Company along the latter Company's private right-of-way between the two sections of Broadway in the City of Pittsburgh; and

WHEREAS—The City desires to construct a road crossing over the aforesaid tracks between the two sections of Broadway at Pauline avenue; and

WHEREAS—The Railway Companies are willing to lower their aforesaid tracks to conform with the grade of said road crossing upon the terms and conditions herein after set forth.

NOW, THEREFORE—The parties hereto, for and in consideration of the premises and mutual covenants and conditions hereinafter provided, do agree as follows:

FIRST: The City shall construct, or cause to be constructed, a road crossing at grade with concrete base and surface paving across the tracks of the Railway Companies between the two sections of Broadway in the City of Pittsburgh in accordance with plans prepared by the City and approved by the Superintendent of Ways and Structures of the Railway Companies.

SECOND: The Railway Companies shall lower their tracks to conform with the grade at the road crossing to be constructed by the City as provided in Paragraph First hereof and shall remove their present rails from said crossing and construct in place thereof new seven (7) inch rails. Said work shall also be done in accordance with plans prepared by the City and approved by the Superintendent of Ways and Structures of the Railway Companies.

THIRD: The City shall bear the entire cost of the work provided for in Paragraph First hereof and shall also pay to the Railway Companies, upon the execution of this agreement and the approval thereof by the Public Service Commission, the sum of one Thousand ($1,000.00) dollars, to be applied by the latter companies to the work provided for in Paragraph Second hereof and also the necessary relocation and or reconstruction of the overhead facilities of the Railway Companies in connection therewith.

FOURTH: The work to be done by the City as hereinabove provided shall be carried on in such a manner as not to interfere, either during the progress of the work or afterwards, with the free and safe passage of cars over the tracks of the Railway Companies in either direction.

FIFTH: The City covenants and agrees to indemnify and save harmless the Railway Companies from and against any and all suits, claims, suits and liabilities of every kind whatsoever arising from the construction and maintenance of the road crossing provided for in Paragraph First hereof and the lowering of the tracks of the Railway Companies to conform to the grade thereof, save and except such suits, claims, suits and liabilities arising by reason of the sole negligence of the Railway Companies or their employees.

SIXTH: The City also covenants and agrees that after the completion of the road crossing provided for in Paragraph First hereof, whenever required by the condition of the premises, it will, at its own cost and expense, without cost of any sort to the Railway Companies, do the work of repairing, repaving or otherwise improving those portions of said crossing which is not required to damage due to track removal or replacement, maintenance of track of car operation.

SEVENTH: Simultaneous with the construction of the road crossing provided for in Paragraph First hereof, the City shall abandon the road crossing now maintained over the tracks of the Railway Companies between the two sections of Broadway at Belasco avenue and for that purpose shall, at its own cost and expense, remove the pavement between the rails of the Railway Companies, of which said road crossing at Belasco avenue is comprised, and also construct a curb throughout the full width of said crossing between the tracks of the Railway Companies and both sections of Broadway.

EIGHTH: It is understood and agreed by the parties hereto that the approval of the Public Service Commission shall be secured before commencement of any part of the work herein provided for.

THIS Agreement shall be binding upon the respective successors and assigns of the parties hereto.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, this agreement has been duly executed the day and year first above written pursuant to the part of the Pittsburgh Railways Company, to a resolution of the board of directors at a meeting held and on the part of the City of Pittsburgh by an ordinance of Council approved and recorded in Ordinance Book, Volume, Page

Women's Club, School and Borough Officials to Participate in Wilkinsburg Ceremony

By MRS. CHARLES M. BREGG

With representatives of the Women's Civic Club, the schools and the borough fathers participating, an elm will be planted Friday afternoon on the grounds of the Turner School, Laketon road, Wilkinsburg, as a Washington Bicentennial celebration. The planting will take place at 2 o'clock after an invocation by the Rev. P. J. Chilcote, pastor of the Rose Avenue Methodist Church.

The ceremonies to follow will be held in the school auditorium where the president of the club, Mrs. Horace W. Daugherty, will present the tree to the schools. Supt. W. C. Graham will receive it and Burgess William M. Turner will speak on "Washington."

Mrs. Wallace Bishop will sing, accompanied by Mrs. Bertha Cross King. The program and planting are under the educational and civic committees of the club.

Again the Tuesday Musical Choral staged a distinct triumph in its annual spring concert in Memorial Hall yesterday. As usual Dr. Charles N. Boyd conducted and Elsie Breese Mitchell was at the piano. The program was well chosen, opening with the Tchaikowsky "Nutcracker Suite." The beautiful "Soul-Star" of Bantock came next, while the difficult ultra-modern "To Vesuna" of Gustave Holst was especially well done and gave the singers an opportunity to display their pianissimo gifts against an entirely opposing harmony and rhythm in the accompaniment. Perhaps the most dramatic number of this group was "Nights" by J. W. Clokey, a lovely tone poem depicting a storm with all its sinister threatenings. The last group included the Grieg "Ich liebe dich," which was sung in German, the Arensky waltz "On Wings of Dreams" and "Spring in Heaven," that mosaic of loveliness written by the blind Frances McCollin of Philadelphia, which was exquisitely done.

Dallmeyer Russell, Pittsburgh pianist, who assisted as usual, played an excellent program well. The opening Haydn number was most appropriate in view of the Haydn bicentennial this year. The Chopin group was played with a sincere understanding of the composer.

Opinion was divided on whether married women should hold positions when the question came up last night at a meeting of business and professional women in Central Branch Y. W. C. A. On the other hand, opinion was unanimous when the girls were asked if they would like to go back to the day when "woman's place was in the home."

The meeting, which was under auspices of the Apropos Club, followed supper. The discussion was chiefly concerned with hours and wages preparatory to later studies on vocational guidance. It brought out that education has a very real value in the opinion of the girls both in meeting present job requirements and in opportunity for advancement. It was generally acceded that a woman should give more to her job than the mere requirements for which she is paid, not only as an evidence of good sportsmanship but because it brings advancement.

DESIGNER PRESENTS NEWEST MODE IN ELABORATE CLOTHES

Paris Bureau, Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph.

PARIS, April 13.—Although the majority of the models presented for spring wear are mostly of the more simple type, even if the simplicity is of the deliberate order, many houses have been showing one or two very original, dressy ensembles or frocks. Such models, even if they are not purchased, create much talk and interest and frequently are worn by mannequins at various functions where they are likely to be much noticed.

And then there are always some women who have an affection for the costume that is of the more sensational type, that verges often on the theatrical. Some can carry off this style beautifully. They seem quite unconscious that they are wearing a costume that is perhaps quite bizarre, which, of course, is the only way that such outfits can be worn. Often the most effective of these frocks is done in black and white, always the simplest and yet the most startling of all color schemes.

WE HAVE MENTIONED that many houses have included one or two elaborate costumes amidst the majority of the simple frocks that make up the new collections. Maggy Rouff showed some wonderful costumes and one of the more sensational has been sketched for this page. The material is thin wool crepe in an eggshell-white, very graceful and supple. Two wide bands slashed and draped over each shoulder constitute the front of the bodice. The sleeves are very wide with turned back cuffs. Black suede makes the wide belt. A boa made entirely of tiny black ostrich tips, shortly curled, is wrapped around the throat. At the side it is caught down by a tab of red patent leather which is passed through a slit in the belt. A similar red tab trims one side of the leather muff. Now what do you think of this wholly chic and rather audacious costume?

* * *

NAVY BLUE CREPE dialap a Rodier fabric makes this Brutere frock. At one side of the bodice is a wide lapel; at the other a wider scarf of the material draped in soft folds, and looped through a semi-encrusted band which follows the inner edge of the lapel and crosses diagonally over the front of the dress. The looped scarf after passing beneath this band is buttoned on at the opposite side of the bodice. There is a bias band of the material attached along one edge only, which spirals around the arm from a point just above the wrist to and at the back of the elbow. Which shows what detail and work is to be found on an apparently simple model.

TUNNEL POWER OPERATOR FIRED

Charles J. Muzzio, assistant electrical operator in the Liberty tubes power house, was ordered dismissed yesterday by County Commissioners C. M. Barr and William D. Mansfield. It was charged Muzzio refused to obey orders and last week struck William J. Buch, assistant superintendent of the tunnels. The dismissal was recommended by E. J. Chester, director of county highways.

The commissioners also approved the "furloughing" of Charles Buster, J. J. Gallacher and Nick Cue, chauffeurs for John Fugassi, Edward M. Kenna and Edward Moriarty, county officials recently resigned or relieved of duty.

A bill for $430 for seven days' stenography in the investigation of county truck hire was submitted by Harry Bastow, public stenographer and referred to the law department. A bill for $1,190, submitted by Venango County for expenses in the trial of Walter Lyster and Harold Watts, coal and iron policemen charged with killing Joseph Barkowski, was ordered paid.

TUBERCULOSIS SURVEY OPENS

In connection with the fifth annual early diagnosis campaign the Tuberculosis League of Pittsburgh tomorrow afternoon will present the third of a series of four radio talks. Miss Elsie Eitchem, in charge of the Negro health survey of the league, will speak over WCAE at 4:45 p. m. The final talk of the series will be heard over the same station on Friday, April 29, when Helen Glenn Tyson, of the Pennsylvania Department of Welfare, will speak.

The campaign will be part of a national effort to discover unknown cases of tuberculosis from which known cases have come. According to the Tuberculosis League this means intensified effort on the part of all professional groups who may come in contact with families where a known case of tuberculosis exists.

INTEREST HIGH IN FISHING

Twice as many people, including many women, have obtained fishing licenses this year as in previous years, Samuel P. Molinaro, chief license clerk in the County Treasurer's office, said today. More than 3,000 licenses have been issued as compared to 1,500 last year. It is expected 12,000 will be issued in the county during the season.

Sportsmen predict an exceptionally good trout season, opening Friday. The streams are swollen and well stocked, they declare.

Pittsburgh merchants dealing in fishing supplies report sales this year are on the same level as last. Most sportsmen, authorities say, have dropped the idea of "catching a lot of fish," and now pursue the art of angling—the dry fly style of fishing.

Realty Men Urging State Relief Tax

The Pittsburgh Real Estate Board will lead a movement among realty men of the state to seek a special session of the State Legislature to enact a uniform state income tax law for the provision of relief funds.

The Community Research Bureau of the Pittsburgh Board will seek action by the Pennsylvania Real Estate Association, which meets Friday at Harrisburg. It is predicted that the state group will take their plea for a special session direct to Gov. Pinchot.

Women said:

YOU CAN'T KEEP SUDS LIKE THAT

BUT that was before they used the New Oxydol

● Maybe you've had this experience; most women have. You stir up suds in dishpan or laundry tub, only to see them ball up or fade away when you put in greasy dishes or dirty clothes.

But that doesn't happen with the New Oxydol. Sprinkle this soap in and see the amazing result. Rich—fluffy—permanent suds. Suds that soak the dirt out and keep it out—suds that don't collapse, letting the dirt fall back on the clothes. Suds that soak clothes gleaming white—that make dishes sparkling clean—that leave no scum.

Oxydol makes 50% more suds—that's why this safe, clean-smelling soap can do so much, even in the hardest water—and all water hardens when you put in dirty clothes or greasy dishes. Try the New Oxydol. You'll bless the day you learned its name.

MAY GAIN BY SAVING RIGHT-HANDER

IT MAY BE argued that playing into the other fellow's hand is not the accepted best method of winning a baseball game or any other kind of contest, and Manager George Gibson of the Pirates opened himself to criticism right off the bat by sending Larry French to the rifle pit in the 1932 curtain raiser at St. Louis when it meant that the Pirate southpaw would have to face eight righthand hitters. However, that sounds like second guessing. You're not in a very good position to judge what a manager ought to do in a ball game when you're 612 miles away.

Larry French

Gibson undoubtedly was governed by the condition of his staff and picked French because the latter was in better shape than any of the others. Anyhow, when the pitching is good enough it will win regardless of whether it is of the lefthand or righthand variety, or from what side of the plate the enemy is swinging. It appears not to make a whole lot of difference whether lefthand or righthand batters are opposing Lefty Grove.

SO IT WAS French, the lefthander, who got the call because he wasn't on the proper edge of that pitching turn and not merely because he is a lefthander. Otherwise Larry might have reversed matters. He has won six games against two in competition with the Cards in his three years in the National League and that doesn't indicate that he is helpless before them. Perhaps the show will be on the other foot when he meets them again here next week.

Besides, a glance at the score gives the impression that it wouldn't have made any great difference who pitched for Pittsburgh. Gibby may have profited by saving a righthander for another and better day in the series. Very few games are won on two runs, the Pirates' total for the afternoon. Possibly they wouldn't have scored even those two if Flint Rhem had not been in a position to ease up in the seventh inning when he had an eight-run lead. It wasn't a very good day for southpaws in general. Four out of five starters failed to finish.

IT DIDN'T TAKE Babe Ruth long to register against one of his well-known type, Jeff George Ruffing, couldn't get even the first pitch past him, and before the day was over the Bambino was off to a flying start toward another fat home run crop for 1932, with two round-trippers to his credit.

IT WAS NOTHING for Jim Londos to wrestle on two consecutive nights in cities as far apart as Chicago and Pittsburgh. He thrives on it. Londos has made a close study of physiology and knows almost as much about the human body as the average doctor. "I am never sick," he says. "I don't know what a headache is. I sleep 10 hours every night. I also try to sleep about one or two hours before every match. I eat lightly—two meals a day—and I am very careful about what I eat. Yes, I pay the price for being a champion. I can't stay out late at night."

Silas Johnson

THOUGH SILAS JOHNSON failed to go the distance in the Cincinnati opener his appearance on the mound as the Reds' first pitcher of the year drew attention to the almost complete turnover Manager Dan Howley has gone through since he took the club that was turned over to him when he succeeded Jack Hendricks as manager in 1930.

Johnson is one of only five survivors of 1929. The Reds used 29 players that season, and all that remain are four pitchers and one other player who was used in 1929 merely as a pinchhitter. Besides Johnson, the only men who have survived Howley's two years of housecleaning are Pitchers Eppa Rixey, Red Lucas and Ray Kolp and Outfielder Estel Crabtree.

IN LIFTING EARL COMBS from center field in favor of Sam Byrd in the Yankee opener Joe McCarthy demonstrated again that there is no room for sentiment in baseball when there are games to be won. For Combs, one player on the Yankee roster for whom McCarthy has a particular degree of friendship. It dates back to minor league days when the two first grew up together on the Louisville club.

But Byrd has batted .593 through the spring trip and had made for... hours against the last four exhibition games. Even an old pal has got to be benched in the face of that kind of opposition. And Byrd kept it up with two homers and a single yesterday. It may not be easy for Combs to get his job back. Byrd has youth in his favor and owns a better throwing arm than Combs.

JAMES MASON breaks a long silence with a letter from Chicago, where he has spent eight months caring for his sick sister and brother. "Reading in your column about the death of Cocky McCoy recalled to me the days way back in 1888," he writes, "when I first donned boxing gloves and had charge of the stage at Ross & Plaisted's in Diamond street. McCoy met quite a few local fighters there. Both Cocky and his brother, Charley, who fought Dominick McCaffrey, were fighting around Pittsburgh in those days. If Jack Dempsey ever appears in Pittsburgh, he will show for me in preference to anyone else. I have the word of both Dempsey and his manager, Leonard Sacks.

"THE WALKER-LEVINSKY fight in Chicago will be a sell-out," Mason continues. "If Walker is in fair shape I think he will lick the Kingfish. Ace Hopkins much smaller, beat Levinsky by fighting him in close, and that's the way Walker will battle him.

"I think the Pirates will surprise many of the wise ones. I am picking them to finish in the first division. Have made a bet that both of the Waners best out Hack Wilson in the batting averages. I'd like to see Wilson do well, but I don't think he will accomplish the big things predicted for him in Brooklyn."

THE ACTION OF the New York Boxing Commission in ordering Battling Battalino to rest up for 60 days has cost New York the return fight between Battalino and Billy Petrolle. Chicago stepped in and signed Bat for such a match on May 13, and Petrolle also has accepted terms.

The matching of Petrolle and Battalino for May 13 in Chicago will also have the effect of knocking out the proposed New York fight between Petrolle and Jackie Fields on May 20 for the world welterweight championship. That must now be put off for at least six weeks.

Frankie Parker

AMERICA HAS PRODUCED a remarkable crop of young tennis players in recent years and indications are that there may be an even greater set to follow. The racquet world is still discussing in amazement the feat of 15-year-old Frankie Parker at New Orleans the other day, when the national boys' singles champ defeated George M. Lott, Jr., No. 2 ranking player of the United States, in straight sets, 6-4, 8-6. Parker led Lott all the way, and the result was one of the greatest net upsets ever to take place in this country. On the strength of this latest performance, Parker, a student at Fortier High School in New Orleans, is being hailed as one of the world stars of the future.

WILD NAMED TO POSITION AS COACH

By JESS CARVER

Pete Henry

Washington and Jefferson College athletic council will meet [illegible] for the purpose of giving formal approval to two of three of President Ralph C. Hutchison's proposals, chief of which is the recommendation of Wilbur Pete Henry, former all-America star, for the position of director of intercollegiate athletics and the appointment of Glenn "Whoops" Wild as freshman football and varsity basketball coach.

The appointment of Henry to the post of athletic director appears in line and needs only the approval and "bless you my boy" of the athletic council. Wild also appears certain to get the o. k. for the coaching jobs.

REPLACED THEURER

Henry, who boasts more acreage especially around the equator than any other football coach or graduate manager with the possible exception of Tubby Spears, has been serving as acting graduate manager since the resignation of William T. Theurer in January. He served Wash.-Jeff nobly as an undergraduate and his name goes down in gridiron history as one of the most illustrious of its sons.

The contracts to be tendered Henry and Wild will be one-year affairs effective in June.

Henry has been serving for the past three years as varsity line coach in football. Whether he will retain this position is problematical.

Dan B. Dougherty, former Wash.-Jeff and Michigan star and well-known football, basketball and baseball official, also was considered for the athletic chief job. Dougherty is in business here.

Letter and numeral awards for the following athletes also will be presented the council for its approval tonight:

Basketball—Captain George Jay, Maurice Corbett, Norman Bradley, John Butler, John Bonetta, George Shaffer, Gerhart Ziegler and James Custer, manager.

Wrestling—Co-Capts. George Inmas and Albert Bonetti, A. W. Harris, Walter Gibson, William Nicholson, Carl Richardson, Charles Mickey Pat, Kwiatkus and Henry Cunningham, manager.

F. E. Kirby of Brooklyn, N. Y., senior manager of intramural sports, also was awarded a varsity letter.

The Tipoff

Friends of Max Hannum, they number many, are mourning with the popular Carnegie Tech sports publicity man over the death yesterday in Tulsa, Okla., of his mother. Max rushed to her bedside last Saturday when her condition, which had been serious for some time, grew worse. Hannum went to Tulsa some weeks ago when his mother's condition was [illegible] but returned when it was believed she would recover. Funeral services will be held Friday in Tulsa.

The girl in Carnegie Tech's gymnasium who defeated basketball teams over the [illegible] remains with us and is now up against a championship. Pitt's Kappa Sigma team, champions of the local fraternity league, and Pat Fergus, Kappa Sig star, engage in the championship [illegible] over the week-end. It would be [illegible] have Buddy Dippold or Ben Mosell referee this one.

According to an announcement from the office of Athletic Director W. J. Bevan, the Thiel, Harrison of Pitt, the Panthers and Duquesne University varsity golf teams will meet in a home-and-home series this year. The first match is to be played May 17, the course to be selected by the Dukes, and the second will be played May 23 at Highland, home course of the Panthers.

All-Immaculata basketball and student coach of the Wash.-Jeff, assisting team and Eastern Intercollegiate Conference [illegible] champions, has resigned to coach Elder Dan at Wash.-Jeff, succeeding Tommy Clarke, and is pressing a bench in the Turnbull [illegible] was a substitute back last year.

EXPLANATION OF RIPLEY'S CARTOONS OF YESTERDAY: AN ARCHITECTURAL LIE—23 Leinster-gardens, in spite of its pretentious exterior, is not a house, but a very clever camouflage, masking a district railway cutting. The dummy balconies match the real balconies next door, and behind its painted doors there is nothing but a 40-foot drop to the railroad tracks. It is a five-storied "front" faked on a plain brick wall to resemble its dignified neighbors. The "house" has inspired many mystery or detective stories and has suggested an endless number of practical jokes and some swindles. Passers-by can be fooled by it, but they cannot be "taken in."

ST. LOUIS, April 13. Determined to succeed where the Cubs failed yesterday and on the thirteenth try, too, Pittsburgh's Pirates square off against the Champion St. Louis Cardinals today in the second game of their inaugural series. Beaten in the season's opener, 10-2, by the hard hitting and fast stepping Cards, the Pirates came back today determined on revenge.

Sparky Adams

Manager George Gibson had a pair of right-handers groomed for hurling duty today. He will start either Glenn Spencer or Bill Harris. Spencer appears to be the most likely choice. If the lithe star is right, he'll cause the Champions no end of trouble. Pilot Gabby Street, of the Redbirds, will depend on Bill Hallahan, the ace portsider of the Card entourage.

Yesterday, the Cards ran up their National League pennant and then proceeded to smack down the Buccos. Larry French and Bill Swift, the two Pittsburgh hurlers, were touched for 13 blows, French giving up 10 in the six frames he toiled and Swift being walloped for three in two he was on the mound. Meanwhile, lanky Flint Rhem, who now has pitched and won three opening games for the Cards in a row, turned the Bucco stickmen back with seven blows, which he kept very well scattered.

CARDS SCORE EARLY

The Cardinals lost little time in getting started with their run-grabbing. They punched two across in the first inning. Adams and Blades both cracked out singles to left and advanced as Traynor whapped out Frisch. Bottomley grounded to Piet, Adams scoring. Traynor threw high and wide in attempting to peg out Collins and Blades tallied on the miscue.

In the second, the Cards rang up three more. Gelbert singled to center and he and Rhem were both safe when an attempted two-ply killing gesture of the Buccos went unrewarded. Blades walloped a double to left and Frisch hammered the same sort of a blow to the right field screen.

Four singles in the sixth inning accounted for three more Cardinal tallies. The Pirates scored their two runs in the seventh, Comorosky and Traynor getting singles, Suhr a walk and Piet's hitting for a single base to score Commy and Pie.

COLLINS HITS HOMER

In the home half of the inning this fellow Jim Collins, who is playing left in the place of the departed Chick Hafey, the National League's champion batsman last year, smacked a homer out of the lot with the bases empty. The final Card run came over in the eighth on Gelbert's scratch hit, Rhem's sacrifice and Watkins' timely one-base wallop.

Gus Suhr was the only Pirate able to accumulate two safe hits, both being singles. Paul Waner's double was the lone extra base blow accounted for by the Freebooters.

Sparky Adams, a former Pirate, started the 1932 season off very much on the right foot by collecting three safe hits, as did Ray Blades, the Cardinal right fielder. Charley Gelbert turned in a pair of safe smacks.

The chilly weather and overcast skies kept the attendance down to a mere 5,937. The contest was preceded by the usual band music and the parade of both teams to the flagpole, where the American flag and the National League pennant were hoisted. Mayor Victor Miller not only tossed out the first ball, but he pitched several balls to Catcher Jimmy Wilson.

NEXT MOVE UP TO MEINE

Back at his desk today after a long visit with his players, President William E. Benswanger of the Pirates announced an ultimatum in the now famous holdout case of Pitcher Henry (Heinie) Meine. Benswanger said:

"The Pittsburgh club has finished its negotiations with Meine. We made out last offer to him in St. Louis and positively insist that any further moves must be made by the pitcher. The club made him such a generous offer that I was somewhat sorry we had gone so far to sign him. Meine is welcome on the ball club; he always has been, but the matter is entirely up to him now, and baseball law will have to take its course if he is not in the fold in 10 days."

Meine is holding out for approximately $15,000, or an advance of more than 55 per cent over last season's salary. The club apparently has offered him about $12,000. Sentiment of the big majority of fans in Pittsburgh is to the effect that Meine is making a mistake in his dissenting attitude, in view of the circumstances.

Benswanger saw his players in action against the Cardinals yesterday. He asserts they were impressive in defeat.

"The Pirates hustled all the way and really looked good," he said.

New York Poloists Win Class B Title

NEW YORK, April 13.—(AP.)—Playing in its home armory, the Squadron C polo team, of New York, won the Class B National Indoor Polo championship last night by defeating the First Cleveland Cavalry, 13½ to 7½.

CHILLYSAUCE

By CHARLES J. DOYLE

OPENING DAY NEWS IN RHYME

As Uncle Sam rang up the curtain
The National Game had a winter-like turn—
But it wasn't the cold that was hurtin'.

Our Bold Buccos, who were themselves quite a frost
Were numb for a different reason—
The Pirates were pained by the way they were tossed
In starting a promising season.

The Reds rose in splendor to stifle the Bears,
The Watch on the Rhine was their anthem.
The Germans at midnight were singing in pairs
And giving three cheers for George Grantham.

In smearing McGraw and his codgers,
While Rabbit and Company were giving the air
To those often troublesome Dodgers.

The White Sox steamrollered the Killefer Klan;
Cornelius found his Iago;
McCarthy made Connie a poor also ran—
McCarthy, who came from Chicago.

Repulse any hint of recession—
For his is the only Big Name in the land
That makes us forget the depression.

HEYDLER URGES LATER START

CINCINNATI, April 13.—(AP.)—John A. Heydler, president of the National League, today announced his intention of urging that opening baseball games of the season be advanced "for two weeks at least," to avoid the weather jinx so often interrupting opening schedules.

He made his statement while here to witness the opening game between the Chicago Cubs and the Cincinnati Reds yesterday.

"The major leagues," he said, "have come to the point where they must seriously consider the advisability of moving down the season openings for two weeks at least. Experience as to April weather in the last two years shows us that there is but one chance out of 10 of having good weather in this month.

"Especially is that true in the northern tier—Chicago, Pittsburgh and Boston. Two seasons in Pittsburgh were opened with snow on the field.

"If this step is taken it will mean that the season will have to go longer into October. The only deterrent to the latter plan is the existence of the Pennsylvania blue laws, which prohibits professional Sunday baseball in that state."

PURPLE STAR BANNED

EVANSTON, Ill., April 13.—(INS.)—Northwestern University's basketball team will have to go through the season without its captain, Phil Reich, on charges of professionalism. Reich was declared ineligible for all school athletics Monday. Northwestern's director of athletics said Reich was found guilty of playing semi-pro football in a football game in Lafayette, Ind., the home town, at which admissions were charged.

MISSOURI GRID TEAM STRIKES

COLUMBIA, Mo., April 13.—(AP.)—The football squad of Missouri University has refused to report for spring practice following the resignation of Gwinn Henry, head football coach.

The players have signed a petition which stated they believed Henry should remain as coach and reaffirmed their faith in the Missouri grid mentor.

Wrestling knew its biggest night in the history of the sport in Pittsburgh when, despite miserable weather conditions, Jim Londos, the heavyweight champion, jammed Motor Square Garden to the limit of its seating capacity last night. It was such a turnout as to put to shame recent boxing attendances here and leads to the suspicion that, unless bigger and better attractions with the gloves are offered soon, the grunters and groaners may take the play away from the boxers, as has been the case in many other cities once wrestling got a foothold.

The handwriting would appear to be on the wall for the boxing promoters to read and heed.

GIVE GOOD ACTION

True, there were many persons there who came simply to gaze upon the recognized world champion in action, a man they have been reading about for years but have been denied the privilege of seeing. However, the chances are that they will be lured back again, for, on the whole, the program offered was the best from a wrestling standpoint that has been put on here so far in the revival. There was very little hokum and more serious grappling for holds and legitimate punishing work than has been the case heretofore, and the spectators appeared to enjoy the exhibitions.

Londos, agile and cunning, threw Frank Speers, former Georgia Tech football star, who previously had won two bouts here in 22 minutes 59 seconds, with a body slam and grapevine. It was a fairly spectacular finish after Speers, young and strong, had put up a creditable bout, forcing the action much of the time. Frank maintained several holds on the mat for protracted periods.

LONDOS BREAKS HOLDS

The feature was Londos' ability to break up headlocks and flying mares by simply bracing himself with his hands on his knees and holding his ground until his opponent weakened from his own efforts and was forced to let go or was shoved off. In more than a half-dozen attempts Speers was unable to drop the champion to the mat with a headlock or flying mare, Londos giving by long odds the finest exhibition of defensive skill in this connection that has been seen on a local mat.

The end came suddenly, with Londos tossing his man about the ring and then picking him up and slamming him bodily upon the mat and spread-eagling himself over him until the latter's shoulders touched. Londos weighed 239 pounds and Speers 233.

SHOCKER WINNER

The hardest fought match of the night was the semi-final in which the red-haired giant, Pat O'Shocker, of Salt Lake City, Utah, and formerly of Ben Avon, 231, won the decision over Jim Clinstock, the Indian, 241, after 30 minutes of scrappy going. A kick in the face while on the mat brought the blood cascading from O'Shocker's nose and mouth after 15 minutes, and it continued almost to the finish, but he put on a strong, punishing last five minutes to grab the award.

Gino Garibaldi, of Italy, 217, made short work of Floyd Marshall, of California, 220, pinning him with a body slam and half nelson and crotch hold after only 7 minutes 15 seconds.

MAXOS SCORES FALL

Abe Coreman, of Brooklyn, 194, did a neat job in beating Steve Snozki, of Boston, 212, in a 20-minute bout, and John Maxos, of New York, 206, threw Jack O'Dell, of Denver, 207, with a body slam and headlock after 10 minutes 45 seconds of the opener.

Charles Dickerhoff was the referee and Dr. A. R. Cratty and Jack Sills served as judges. The next show will be staged at the Garden on May 5. Promoters Charley Reinecke and Ray Fabiani announced.

CORBETT EASY WINNER

LOS ANGELES, April 13.—(AP)—Young Corbett of Fresno, Cal., was crowned king of the welterweights over a sound thrashing to Cleveland Rico, Mexican sensation, winning a decision in 10 rounds here last night.

Seals Discuss Varied Sports Tonight

Everything from soup to nuts in the way of sports will be discussed by the Trained Seals of the Sports Staff of the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph when they broadcast their weekly program over Station WCAE at 7 o'clock tonight.

J. J. Freund, Jr., leading local basketball authority, gives his views of the new rules of that sport, just promulgated.

Carl Shatto, hockey expert, tells you what he thinks of the annual playoff series in his line and reviews the season just closed.

Julius Levin recites a baseball poem in connection with the opening of that season.

Harry Keck, sports editor and master of ceremonies, discusses the coming outdoor boxing season and gives his impressions of Jim Londos, the heavyweight champion wrestler, after seeing him in action at Motor Square Garden last night.

It's only a 15-minute period, but it will be packed with rapid-fire conversation and meaty discussion of the sports, and, if you are a sports fan, it will pay you to tune in.

Moran, Johnson To Meet Again With Gloves

BOULDER CITY, Nev., April 13.—(INS)—In Paris, in 1914, Jack Johnson and Frank Moran, of Pittsburgh, fought a 20-round ring bout.

Veteran fight fans today recalled that historic battle as the same pair prepared for a return fight here Friday night.

The bout will be an exhibition before the 3,000 workmen at Boulder Dam where Moran now is recreational director and manager of the Boulder City baseball team.

"Train?" said Moran. "I'm always in training. They talk about Dempsey's comeback. I'll show 'em I can come back, too."

Between Rounds

Ruby Bullock, manager of George Parks, heavyweight wrestler, is a Saturday night visitor at Max Schmeling headquarters here. George Parks will attend the ring game and the battle of the Brooklyn wrestler with Herman Gelb. Parks is a Homestead boy. The Schmeling-Parks match is scheduled for the Nat Fleischer Boxing Association ring. Fleischer, manager, director and referee of the Parks-Gelb match, is in town in connection with the bout.

Joe Tripp and Charley Champness have been signed for the eight-round semi-final to the Maxie Strub-Steve Mosher return bout in Erie Friday night. Freddie Tellis meets Eddie Pinczewski and Louie Schwartz will oppose John Zack in preliminaries.

Max Schmeling catches a Dayton, O., mail Monday night. Arrive Tuesday, Pittsburgh and Wednesday and Columbus Thursday.

Matches start today for the Allegheny County Amateur League's indoor baseball championship tournament in the Motor Temple the next three nights of the week.

Joey Sprigal, of Uniontown, meets Art Fevacz, of Uniontown, in the semi-final to the Battling Glass-Jackie Cohen bout at the Sapphire Arena Friday night. Pairs Hennigan, of Clairton, meets Charley Bloevich, of St. Michaels, and Andy Kosut, of Turtle Creek, is to mix with Jimmy Gilligan, of the North Side, in the preliminaries.

Frankie Wallace, of Cleveland, signed over Freddie Miller in the N. B. A. featherweight elimination tournament last week, meets Sammy Zarella in Cincinnati next Monday night.

TONIGHT'S FIGHTS

Tommy Farmer vs. Jack Dolan, 10 rounds, Penn-Ohio.

GENERALS SIGN PITCHER

LOS ANGELES, April 13.—(AP)—Ted Wingfield, veteran pitcher, has been signed by the Los Angeles baseball club of the Pacific Coast League, it was announced today by Manager Art Ketchum. Wingfield, who is a native of Texas, is a graduate of the University of Texas.

Williams to Coach At Beaver High

BEAVER, Pa., April 13.—Josh Williams, of Mars, Pa., former Pitt star, was elected head coach and physical director of Beaver High School at a meeting of the school board last night.

Williams succeeds Al Weirman, who will be retained as a member of the Beaver faculty.

AUTO RACER ARRIVES

NEW YORK, April 13.—(INS.)—Juan Gaudino, Argentine racing champion of South America, arrived today on the Florida to participate in the Indianapolis 500-mile race at Indianapolis, where he will be entered in the twenty-fifth International Sweepstakes race on May 30.

The OLYMPIC GAMES

By Lawson Robertson
Head Coach American Olympic Teams

CHAPTER XVIII

The rules of competition in the Olympic Games provide that all officials must be amateurs. This law includes the most important officials in conducting the running races, and that is the starter. There are three or four starters in this country who officiate at most of the college and athletic club meets, but they are classified as professionals because they are paid for their services. This most important duty requires years of skill and experience and it seems unfair that an amateur with lack of experience in firing the pistol should have to be used, particularly in the short distance runs where a fair start decides the championship and an unfair start, such as we have had in previous Olympic games, very often has provided a false champion.

INSTANCES OF BUNGLING

If we delve into the history of the 100-meter dash of past Olympiads we find that only once and that in 1928 was there a start that was satisfactory to all of the contestants. In 1906 I was a competitor at Athens and in the final heat of the 100 meters the contestants were four Americans, one Australian and one Swede. During the preliminary trials the starter, who wore a high hat and used a muzzle-loading pistol, mumbled something which was in the nature of a preparatory command and half of the contestants anticipated the report of the pistol without penalty and without recall for false starting. The result was that in the final heat as soon as he opened his mouth three of the contestants ran off without waiting for the gun and finished first, second and third. I was not among those but had traveled 6,000 miles to try to win an Olympic medal.

In 1908 the final of the 100 meters produced Reggie Walker of South Africa, who was awarded the championship, although it was obvious at the start that he had anticipated the pistol by one full step. In 1912, the 100-meter race included six contestants and the men were kept on the mark for a full 20 minutes, during which time nine false starts precipitated the delay. This was due partly to the no-penalty rule and partly to the inexperience of the starter.

ANOTHER FIASCO

At Antwerp, in the seventh Olympiad, the sprint race again was a fiasco. The inexperienced pistol-firer permitted four of the six contests to get away with the gun, but two others, one of which was Loren Murchison, were unprepared to start and consequently were left at the post. This tragedy was due to the inexperience of the starter.

Four years later, in Paris, the 100-meter final developed into a questionable start and the ultimate winner to my way of looking at it got the best start of his life. At the ninth Olympiad, in Amsterdam, where the rule for amateur starters again was enforced, America undoubtedly was deprived of a championship by the inexperience and poor judgment of the man who fired the pistol. In this particular race the victor got none the worst of it and the runner-up was left flat. The difference in this contest between the first and second runners was putting it charitably, at least, the above mentioned margin.

MUST TRAIN STARTER

Now, for this year, we are confronted with the position of schooling an amateur in trying to get all of the runners away to an even start in races where the margin between defeat and victory is measured by inches. It seems to me that such a procedure does not

Local Boy Elected Tufts Mat Leader

Winthrop W. Story, son of Mr. and Mrs. Chester B. Story of 144 North Dithridge street, has been elected to captain the wrestling team at Tufts College next year, friends here learned today. The Tufts mat team has won the New England intercollegiate championship for the last two years and Young Story won the championship in the 165-pound class in the title competition. He was co-captain of the team in the season just closed.

SAINTS CHANGE CLUB NAME

By TOM BIRKS

The St. Joseph nine of the West Penn League will be known as the Sofa Makers this season, according to Mike Kudrak, who manages the club. Last year it remained with the outfit as first string [illegible] The club will play its home [illegible] the new Greenlee Stadium.

Manager Kudrak wants all players to report Saturday and Sunday afternoons at Moultrie Park for practice sessions. Griffith was smart enough to enlist the services of George McFarland, Oakland boy and former big league pitcher. McFarland will coach the batters men and play first base and should the occasion arise Mac will be able to take the mound and aid his staff.

With Kudrak and Griffith batting fences a crackerjack infield should be lined up for the West Penn [illegible] Last season Reliance [illegible] Homestead Ace and Lilly [illegible] of a speedy battle with Jackass [illegible] This season the race promises to be just as close.

In a few days Manager Griffith will be able to announce the roster of the club. Both Mr. Griffith and Mr. Briley [illegible] Kudrak, Strudnick are expecting to be the McKeesport lineup when the season opens. Outside of the league engagements the Sofa club expects to play some of the best all around ball in the district. Greenlee Field Griffith can be reached at Grant 2312 in the evenings.

GOLF OFFICERS CHANGED

Nick Altrock
Baseball's Humorist
Says:

BOSTON, April 13.—Well folks, the baseball season is officially opened with the Presidential nutcracker and the only sad item I have to report is that John McGraw doesn't think the game is what it used to be in Civil War days when Mac was playing third base. McGraw is right when he says that. In the old days there were 12 teams in the league and a club was liable to leave home April and return in September like nine Enoch Ardens.

Nick Altrock

In the old days a crack home runner was liable to pile up $1,200 salary in a year, and in those glorious old annums that McGraw holds to his bosom a club was likely to net $365 profit for 154 days of play. If McGraw pines for the old days, that's his own affair, but personally I'll take vanilla.

PAIR OF SOCCER FRAYS CARDED

With the Shannon Motleys scheduled to clash with Bridgeville in the Keystone League this evening and the second game of the West Penn championship series scheduled for Sunday afternoon, the South Park inclosure is going to be a mecca for soccer fans this week.

While the Keystone League fracas probably is over much interest will attend the second battle of the series for the West Penn title and it will be a game Morry outfit that steps out on the lot to do battle with Dunn and his Bridgeville eleven.

There is little doubt that the result of last Saturday's game was one of the outstanding upsets of the season. Despite the fact that the Switchmen are one of the contract aggregations in the district, even their most ardent supporters hardly expected them to win, because their type of soccer [illegible] has been successful against the American brand.

Negotiations Becloud Superior Court Race.

By MARK SHIELDS

Mr. Shields

Arguments advanced in behalf of this or that candidate for the three nominations to the Superior Court in the Republican primary seem designed to confuse the voter rather than to give him a clear picture as he votes to choose public servants for positions in which he has long been told he should be interested.

This beclouded situation is brought about because of the peculiar negotiations which have involved appointments or announced candidacies and because of the mix-ups involving the slatings of four of the candidates. Judges Joseph Stadtfeld, Robert Gawthrop, William M. Parker and former Lieut. Gov. Arthur James.

Parker and Gawthrop are indorsed both by the Pinchot Independents and the regular organization of the state. Stadtfeld also is indorsed by the Pinchotites, but the regulars have shunted him aside for James. This, according to the Independents led by the Governor, is a vicious preference, and the attempt to beat Judge Stadtfeld is vigorously condemned.

Stadtfeld Well Fitted; Should Be Continued

It should be. Judge Stadtfeld is an able man, well fitted for the public service he is now performing and which he should continue to perform. That is a sufficient platform.

To claim that James, for example, should be refused election because there is a precedent for electing sitting judges is beside the mark. Independents have made vigorous efforts to upset sitting judges and so have regulars, Allegheny County being a notable example.

As to this attitude toward the Appellate Court, it will be recalled that only two years ago Judge Frank Graff, of Armstrong County, sitting on the Superior Court by appointment of former Gov. Fisher, was overwhelmingly defeated by Judge James B. Drew, then of Allegheny County Common Pleas Court.

It is hardly contended that Judge Parker, because he was appointed by Gov. Pinchot, Judge Stadtfeld, because he was appointed by the same Governor, or James, because he is favored by Vare, will render decisions dictated either by Pinchot or Vare. There is nothing in the record of any to indicate that.

James is backed by Vare because of association dating back to 1926, when James was elected Lieutenant Governor on the Vare ticket, and as a matter of pride because other Philadelphia organization leaders twice humiliated James in 1930 when Vare was ill and was shunted aside by gentlemen who thought they were politically smart but quickly showed they weren't.

Parker on Vare Slate Prominently as James

Parker, for example, is on the Vare slate quite as prominently as James, and if bargains are to be discussed through the deals of both factional state leaders rather than one. He was not appointed to the bench until an agent of Mr. Pinchot had made an agreement with Vare and State Chairman Martin for his support, promising to appoint Judge Linn, favored by the state regulars, to the Supreme Court as part of the agreement. So far as is known, there was then no plea for Judge Stadtfeld, no insistence from Harrisburg on the "precedent" of retaining sitting judges.

The political efforts to place Judge Stadtfeld on the regulars' slate all came from men in Pittsburgh not identified with the Independents. He also had the support of E. J. Kaufmann and leading lawyers. There was no evidence that Gov. Pinchot was interested. It is reported he attempted to prevail upon County Commissioner William D. Mansfield not to attend a conference in Philadelphia at which Mansfield and others sought to have Stadtfeld slated, their hopes aroused because they did not know of the part which had been formed between the Governor and Vare. One might almost believe that the issue now promoted was desired, even though it jeopardized Judge Stadtfeld.

It is certain the state administration attempted no such persuasion as was advanced in behalf of Judge Parker. The Governor became zealous when Judge Stadtfeld became an issue turnable against the Vare organization. So did some other Independents who did not raise a practical hand in his behalf when such help might have averted the present strife.

Primarily because of his fitness, Judge Stadtfeld should be elected. But in furthering his candidacy through an attack on "deals," speakers should give some thought to the steps by which Judge Parker became a candidate, as well as Mr. James. Moreover, it might be more successful strategy, though probably impossible because they would be compelled to draw Mr. Pinchot into the picture also. It is probable others besides Independents might be aroused at what some call an effort to use Judge Stadtfeld for political purposes to which the judge is not a party.

PITT TO ALLOW 'CONFERENCE' STUDY PLAN

Students to Be Permitted To Take Up Any Course Without Attending Classes

It will be possible for University of Pittsburgh students to go to college without attending classes next semester as a result of an announcement in the new university catalogue which will come from the press within the next two weeks.

The announcement says in effect that any student may take any course in the college by the "informal or conference" method, without attending regular classes, provided he has the consent of his instructor.

SYSTEM TESTED

One girl student is going to live near New York after June and complete her senior year's work by visiting the university twice each semester. She will be graduated if she can pass her examinations.

All this isn't so radical as it sounds, according to Dr. I. P. Sieg, acting dean of the School of Education. In fact, he's been experimenting with the idea for the past six or seven years.

Some students will learn better if they are allowed to work out their own program of study, Dr. Sieg believes, meeting occasionally with their instructor to discuss their problems.

HOLDS PLAN SUCCESS

However, it is not anticipated that a large number of students will immediately begin the new type of schooling. Dr. Sieg said:

"I still consider class instruction as the most efficient method.

"The informal method, however, is successful. Five years ago I used it with two students in my physics class and they passed their examinations at the head of the class."

LEAP TO SAFETY IN HILL FIRE

Several persons, one an aged woman, leaped to safety and nine Negro families were driven into the snow today when fire swept a two-story frame tenement hall a block long in Snow's Row, rear of the 2900 block Bedford avenue.

Mrs. Mary Keith, 60, jumped from a second story window 15 feet to the ground to escape the flames. Only slightly hurt, she was taken in by neighbors.

Mrs. Rose Gilmore carried her two children, Raymond 21 months, and Henry, Jr., 3 years, from the second floor to safety.

Aroused when his dog, Pompy, crashed through the paneling into his bedroom, William Thomas, 29, leaped from the window with the dog. Two pups which the dog left behind, perished in the flames, along with a cat.

Two fire alarms summoned half a dozen engine companies which battled the flames against a stiff wind.

Fireman Frank Kaminsky, of Truck Company No. 14, suffered a severe cut on the hand. He was taken to Mercy Hospital. Firemen placed damage at $10,000.

4 TOWNS PUSH GAS RATE CUT ARGUMENT

Commissioner Shelby Hears More Testimony Aimed To Prove Costs Unfair

Public Service Commissioner S. Ray Shelby today heard further testimony offered by the citizens of four communities consuming gas supplied by the Union Heat and Light Company, who seek to have a 65-cent net rate for each 1,000 cubic feet of gas used, reduced.

The towns protesting that the company is charging a meter service which exceeds the amount authorized by law are the boroughs of Grove City, Sandy Lake, Stoneboro and Volant.

The complainants today produced records of the company's operations. They further stated the Union purchased gas from the United Natural Gas Company, Pennsylvania Fuel Supply Company, Butler Gas Company, Waynesburg Gas Company, Blackstown Gas and Supply Company and had facilities to connect with the Manufacturers Light and Heat Company. Witnesses testified as to the land value in the gas areas.

The company charges 70 cents for gas per 1,000 cubic feet, if bills are not paid by the tenth of each month. The rate charged in Pittsburgh is 63 cents per 1,000 cubic feet, with a discount of 3 cents per 1,000 cubic feet if bills are paid on or before the tenth of each month.

It was shown by statements offered Commissioner Shelby last week that the company has paid average dividends of 19 per cent during the last nine years.

Coal Bill Opposition Laid to Railroads

Philip Murray, international vice president of the United Mine Workers of America, charged last night that the railroads and power companies were the chief sources of opposition to the Davis-Kelly coal bill. He said the railroads were beating down coal prices to the point where the industry could not afford a living wage. He described conditions among miners as "miserable."

Fixing Blame Repairs Nothing, Senate Learns

By ARTHUR 'BUGS' BAER

Looks like Senate investigation of shorts won't be long now.

A short is a broker who sells something he hasn't got and doesn't want to a man who wants it but never gets it.

Reminds us of our two shares of Consolidatted Debris. It started on the curb, went into the street and finally slipped down a manhole cover.

We don't like to talk about that August legislative body in April but you must be a bad mechanic if you can't even fix the blame.

PLAN WEDDING AT FOOD SHOW

A public wedding will be a feature at the annual food show sponsored by the Retail Grocers Association of Allegheny County, in Motor Square Garden within the next two weeks. But who the bride and bridegroom will be is still a problem for the officers of the association, who are seeking an eligible couple.

Here are stipulations:

Bride and bridegroom must be residents of Allegheny County. The Grocers' Association will pay all expenses of the wedding, excepting the marriage license, it has been announced. An orchestra will play the wedding march, the clergyman's fee, the bride's ring and even the limousine for the wedding party are included in the association's offer. And there will be many presents for the couple.

J. V. Loughran, secretary of the association, is conducting this search for the two victims of Cupid.

M'KELVIE HERE FOR AD MEET

Samuel R. McKelvie, former Governor of Nebraska and publisher of the Nebraska Farmer, was scheduled to speak today at the luncheon of the Pittsburgh Advertising Club, in conjunction with its fifth annual Advertising Exposition and Conference, which closes tomorrow in the William Penn Hotel.

Mr. McKelvie

The club's exposition, which opened Monday in the hotel's Pirate Hall, displays all types of advertising art prepared and used by companies in this district. Pupils interested in business subjects have been urged to inspect the exhibit to learn the practical side of advertising and selling.

Noonday luncheon speakers have been featured each day of the exposition, the talks being broadcast by station KDKA. The final speaker tomorrow will be Edwin Bird Wilson, of New York, whose subject will be "Tempering Financial Winds to the Short Lambs."

RELIEF NEEDED IN 2,000 MORE HOUSEHOLDS

Number Exceeds Total Thus Far Aided in Campaign; New Progress Report Due

Destitute families are being added to the list of those requiring relief in the county faster than money can be provided to care for them, it was reported today at headquarters of the family-help-family campaign. A week ago the workers began raising funds to care for 28,000 families left destitute when the funds of the Allegheny County Emergency Association were exhausted.

Today, according to Maj. Philip Mathews, a member of the board of directors of the emergency association, more than 2,000 additional families have been thrown upon the relief list, owing to the exhaustion of final pay checks. This is more than the number of families so far provided for by the family-help-family campaign.

421 MORE AIDED

At the report luncheon today in the William Penn Hotel, workers reported contributions sufficient to care for 421 additional families, bringing the total to date to 2,044 families. Of today's report, 339 families were accounted for by the advance guard of the campaign drive led by Taylor Allderdice. Other report meetings will be held tomorrow and Friday.

Five more radio addresses were to be delivered today in behalf of the campaign. Paul Mellon, son of Ambassador A. W. Mellon, will speak tonight at 10:40 over Station WWSW. Other speakers are Dr. Homer Flint, WJAS, at 1:30; Judge Sara Soffel, WCAE, at 2:20; Mrs. Mary Flinn Lawrence, over KQV, at 6:15; and Alex P. Lindsay, KDKA at 11:20.

FLOUR DISTRIBUTED

Distribution of the government flour received here yesterday was to start today under the direction of S. E. Clancy, relief director of the Emergency Association. Two carloads arrived at the Arsenal terminal.

Tonight the Emergency Association headquarters will be moved from the Grant Building to the first floor of the City-County Building.

It was announced today that the Fair Price Committee of the Welfare Fund had made possible an economy of more than $400 a day in supplying food to needy families. The committee meets once a week and sets standard prices to be paid grocers in filling relief orders.

Relief agencies report the list has been accepted by virtually all grocers in the county, bringing considerable saving. The list is handled through family agencies and wholesale grocers. A copy may be obtained from the Welfare headquarters, 702 Chamber of Commerce Building.

Explorer Tells of Search For Trail to America

The spirit of adventure burns brightly for Harold McCracken, explorer of the Arctic, although his hair is showing gray and his frame is tall and slender.

Arriving in Pittsburgh this morning, to appear at the Davis Theater beginning Friday, the explorer of the Aleutian Islands and other remote spots in the Arctic regions talked of the subject nearest his heart——archaeology and human beings. He's said:

"Scientists differ as to how man came to North and South America. They know he has been here between 8,000 and 9,000 years. Some hold that here was the cradle of the human race, others that man came from Asia over the Bering Straits.

It's a strange fact that scientists know 10 times as much about Egypt as they know about their own land.

"To me, how man came to America is the most fascinating of problems. On my last expedition to Siberia and the Aleutian Islands, I had the famous Capt. Bob Bartlett, who took Peary to the Pole. We found mummies of men of the Stone Age. In the nose of the chief were four beads, which scientists say are Korea amber. Some day whole villages there may be uncovered, and the trail of men over the earth may be better known."

Explorer McCracken, who will lecture in connection with the showing of the picture, "Explorers of the World," will be interviewed over Radio Station WCAE Thursday evening at 6:45 o'clock. His will be a fascinating story—his idea of how man made the many-league jump from Asia to America. He will tell how near the two continents are.

Society Women Join Drive To Aid Stricken Homes

Society women in all parts of Allegheny County today were working in behalf of the family-help-family relief plan, having received first hand information on the need of funds at a mass meeting in the Nixon Theater yesterday. The women, while they will not engage in actual canvassing, will help to impress the need for relief upon thousands of residents of the county. A program of entertainment preceded the addresses at the theater meeting. One of the speakers was Mme. Eugenie Leontovich, appearing this week at the Alvin Theater. She told of her early life in Russia and the beginning of a new life in America. She said:

"We saw no beggars on the streets when we first came here. Now we meet them everywhere—honest men, willing to work, but unable to find work to do."

Other speakers were Senator Frank J. Harris, sponsor of the plan; the Rev. Dr. Carl Wallace Petty, Judge Sara Soffel, Roy A. MacGregor, chief of staff in the campaign; Rabbi Benjamin Glazer, the Rev. Lawrence A. O'Connell and Mrs. F. C. Irish, head of the women's division.

Whiston became a fugitive after being indicted here on the automobile charge. Last week he surrendered to the United States Marshal at Texarkana, Tex. After his arrival here he pleaded guilty.

Federal officers said he escaped from the Boys' Industrial Reformatory in Nebraska in 1928 and from the Boys' Industrial School at Lancaster, O., in 1929.

Seek to Identify River Victim's Body

Morgue attaches today were making efforts to identify the body of a man, about 28, removed from the Allegheny River near the Sixth Street Bridge by River Patrolmen Charles Snyder and Henry Reddy yesterday.

The body is believed to be that of the swimmer at whom five shots were fired from the bridge early Sunday. An occupant of a houseboat told police he saw a man sink after shots were fired. There were no marks of violence on the body, morgue attaches said.

CATHOLICS PLAN NEW COURSE FOR SCHOOLS

Guidance Program Slated For Pittsburgh Diocese With Educational Survey

Plans for establishing a guidance program in the parish schools of the Roman Catholic Diocese of Pittsburgh were announced today in the annual report of the diocesan school board for the term ending last June.

The guidance course, which will include an educational survey of the diocese, will be under the direction of the Rev. E. Lawrence O'Connell, M. A. A series of inventory and achievement tests given simultaneously in the same subject and grades will be used to check the standings of 229 schools in the diocese. A course will be established by the Knights of Columbus Normal School for principals and prospective counselors to prepare for the guidance program.

The co-operation of the public school system in Pittsburgh was lauded in the report issued by the Rev. Paul E. Campbell, superintendent. The majority of parish school eighth grade graduates enter the public high schools their graduation being based on examinations approved by the public school superintendent. Seventh and eighth grade pupils receive manual training and home economic courses in the public schools.

The 1930-31 enrollment revealed a decrease of 708 pupils in the diocese. Total enrollment was 89,957 with 85,304 in attendance at the close of the term. The parish schools in the city enrolled 42,011 in the 85 schools, an increase of 751 pupils.

The diocese conducts 32 high schools. Music and art were reported as filling an important part of the educational courses in parish schools.

I'LL MARRY THE FIRST MAN WHO ASKS ME, TO GET AWAY FROM MY SISTER'S APRON STRINGS!
I'M OLD ENOUGH TO DO AS I PLEASE NOW.
UNMARRIED, HER WHOLE LIFE WAS DEVOTED TO HER MOTHERLESS NIECES
FAY KING

By FAY KING.

There are noble women in this world who by the right of love and devotion deserve to share in all the honors conferred upon good mothers.

I mean those women who have taken over the care of little children left motherless.

Sometimes she is an older sister. Sometimes she is a good stepmother. Sometimes she is an aunt. Sometimes only the life-long friend of the mother who is gone.

It is not easy, and too often the children do not realize all she has meant to and done for them, until later in life.

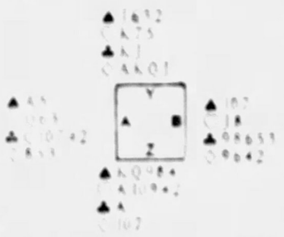
By E. V. SHEPARD

Combine Rules and Common Sense

No part of the game affords such thrills as slam bidding. The reason at least is showing a style the simple rules so readily that he employs them on all occasions. That is the sole objection to this method of procedure. Common sense and shrewd inferences must be employed as well as rules to avoid errors. The next hand illustrates how careful bidders consider all details of the contract.



Z made an opening bid of 1-Spade which Y jumped to 3-Spades. Thereby indicating a conviction that game should be certain at some point probably spades and that at least a small slam appeared probable. Both players were experienced slam bidders so that the jumped bid called for are showing. As in duty bound Z responded with 4-Clubs. He could not at once bid 5-Clubs to show no losing clubs because such a bid by the original declarer of a 1-bid in another suit would indicate possession of a two suiter, with the second suit equally as good as the first one shown. Z's hearts were not sufficiently good to announce a two-suiter by a bid of 5-Hearts. Showing the Ace of clubs seemed to Z the safest thing to do.

Y saw that no tricks could be lost in either clubs or diamonds. He might have bid 5-Diamonds to show no losers of that suit, but Y sought information at least for the moment it was sufficient for him to know about the diamond situation. Had Z been the one giving the slam signal Y must have informed his partner that he held no losing diamonds. Y bid only 4-Diamonds to hold down contracting until Z had shown his full resources.

Z showed his highest ace by bidding 4-Hearts. The slam loomed large to Y. It was probable that Z's surplus hearts or clubs could be discarded upon Y's established diamonds. In any event Y could trump the third round of clubs so that no trick could be lost in either minor suit. The only thing that Y had to consider was the chance of losing a spade trick. The fact that Z had not shifted to no-trumps although Y had shown the Ace of diamonds and Z held both the Aces of clubs and of hearts indicated that Z had not opened contracting upon a four-card spade suit. All indications were that Z held at least five spades. Y had shown better than average length in spades by jumping the opening bid. A small slam appeared assured in case Z held either the Q of clubs or the Q of hearts. To discover whether Z held the lower value Q. Y bid 5-Clubs. Z denied possession of the Q of that suit, by bidding 5-Spades. Y took the slight risk of an overbid when he responded with 6-Hearts stating that he held the K of that suit, and knew that a small slam was possible at spades. That would be hint enough for Z to bid 7-Spades in case he held solid tops in trumps. When Z's answer was 6-Spades, Y passed, knowing that a grand slam was impossible. Just six were made.

Married People in the Bridal Party

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

I am about to be married and I wish my dearest girl friend to attend me, but she is married. Will it be ill luck for myself or my friend if she and her husband do attend us?

EVELYN.

Nowadays, when the bride and groom choose their wedding attendants, they make no distinction between married friends and unmarried friends. Often all of the attendants are married. The attendants are chosen, or should be, because they are close and loved friends, and what possible difference should it make that they are married?

Too, if, for instance, the bride chooses as her matron of honor a close friend, it is not at all necessary that the groom choose the husband of that friend as his best man or as an usher. The same is true of the groom. If he chooses as his best man a married brother or a close friend who is married, it is not necessary for the bride to invite the wife of the best man to be her matron of honor or a bridesmaid. And the wife or husband of an attendant should not expect this invitation.

How to Keep Well

By DR. ROYAL S. COPELAND

Anemia Often Caused by Dieting to Reduce Weight

Lack of proper food causes many constitutional diseases. Food is fuel for the body and without fuel the body cannot thrive. Many persons anxious to reduce in weight skip meals. And the consequence is likely to be undernourishment of the body. Though there are many causes of anemia severe dieting is one of the most common.

Dr. Copeland

Another cause of anemia is loss of blood from severe hemorrhage due to accident or disease. Anemia also is met in rheumatic fever, typhoid fever and other diseases where high fever persists.

The word anemia comes from the Greek meaning "without blood." In this condition the blood becomes thin and watery due to a reduction of its coloring matter, the hemoglobin. There is also a reduction in the number of red blood cells.

In most cases of anemia the treatment is simple and effective. Complete rest is necessary. The food should be simple yet wholesome and nutritious. It should consist of plenty of fresh fruits, vegetables, milk, cereals, butter and eggs. The value of fresh air and sunlight cannot be overestimated.

It is only within the last decade that a treatment for the control of anemia has been discovered. This is the liver diet. Before the value of liver in the treatment of this disease was realized pernicious anemia was one of the fatal diseases.

When liver is fed to these sufferers there is an increase in the number of red blood [illegible] and the restoration of the blood. In addition there is a marked improvement in the general health of the afflicted individual.

Liver extract in powdered form can now be purchased. It is sprinkled on the food and used as a substitute for fresh liver. This is advantageous since the continued eating of liver often becomes disagreeable and interferes with normal digestion.

Nite Club Opens At Midnight

The Sun-Telegraph Nite Club program comes on the air tonight at midnight, instead of at its usual hour of 11, and continues until 1 a. m. The time has been changed for one night only because of the two-hour Jefferson Day dinner program on WCAE starting at 10.

With the rapid approach of the Pennsylvania primaries, interest centers tonight in the weekly broadcast of political affairs by Mark Shields, political editor of the Sun-Telegraph, on WCAE at 6.

The Sun-Telegraph's "Trained Seals" come before the WCAE microphone at 7, when Julius Levin recites a baseball poem; Carl Shatto sums up the hockey season; J. J. Freund, Jr., discusses proposed changes in basketball rules, and Harry Keck presents his impression of Jim Londos, the wrestler.

Bargains galore are called to the attention of WCAE listeners in the five-minute broadcast of "Peggy's Tips" at 9 a. m. The Sun-Telegraph Family's children's program is on the air from 4:45 to 5:15.

Jefferson Day Fete on WCAE; Mary Lewis, Vicki Baum KDKA Highlights

DEMOCRACY RULES the air waves today with three network broadcasts from Washington in observance of Jefferson Day.

Mr. Bowers

A luncheon at the New Willard Hotel starts the festivities at 2:15. Speakers on the program include Representatives Mary T. Norton and Henry T. Rainey, Senator Joe T. Robinson, former Gov. Nellie Tayloe Ross, of Wyoming, Gov. George White, of Ohio and Jouette Shouse. Immediately following, Claude G. Bowers, whose editorial comments are a Sun-Telegraph feature, delivers an address in eulogy of Thomas Jefferson, the First Democratic President. The program is heard through WJAS, which also broadcasts the ceremonies at the tomb of Woodrow Wilson at 4:45, with Newton D. Baker as speaker.

WCAE offers a two-hour program of the Jefferson Day dinner, starting at 10 o'clock tonight. Addresses are delivered by two Governors, Franklin D. Roosevelt, of New York, and Albert C. Ritchie, of Maryland; three former Governors, Alfred E. Smith, of New York, Harry F. Byrd, of Virginia, and James M. Cox, of Ohio, and by Senator J. Hamilton Lewis, of Illinois, and former Senator James A. Reed, of Missouri.

In Pittsburgh, Senator Burton K. Wheeler, of Montana, gives a biographical sketch of Jefferson from KDKA at 3:45 p. m.

The manner in which a metropolitan newspaper attacks the problem of covering the biggest election result gathering task ever faced in Pittsburgh—the county and statewide results of the April 26 primaries—is described when J. Alex Zehner, city editor of the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph, is interviewed by David S. Patterson over KQV tonight at 7:45.

Fan Fare

JUNE YORKIN, NBC artist heard in two programs tonight at 7:15 and again at 8, from the WCAE studios, hails from Charleroi, and is visiting at her home town . . . She got her radio start in 1927 at WCAE . . . Charlie Olcott, "Radio's Funniest Man" and staff artist at KDKA, made his network debut this morning over an NBC chain with a program of songs, clowning and imitations of radio celebrities . . . Paul Whiteman brings his band to the Stanley Theater for a week's engagement, beginning April 29 . . . Add Brickell, the "Pianoisms" expert at KQV, played a harp for 15 minutes recently after a long absence from the instrument, and as a result, is having a hard time playing the piano this week . . . He got a nice little dose of blisters.

Miss Yorkin

Glenn Riggs, the KDKA announcer, is a papa now . . . A baby boy was born to Mrs. Riggs Monday night . . . Bill Williams, sports reporter at WBZ, Boston, is visiting the folks at WBZ's sister station, KDKA, this week.

Question Box

Can you tell me who plays in the "Goldbergs" sketch on WCAE? Are they really one family?—F. C. E., Sewickley.

No, they are not the same family. Gertrude Berg, who writes the sketches, is Mrs. Goldberg; James R. Waters is Mr. Goldberg, and Rosalyn Silber and Alfred Corn, juvenile actors, are the Goldberg children.

"Peaches" To Become Welfare Worker

Frances (Peaches) Browning is going to quit the show business and go into welfare and social work. "Peaches" said so herself last night after the burlesque performance in the Academy, where she is appearing this week. While in Pittsburgh she plans to visit the various community centers and welfare groups to get a "line" on her new vocation. She thinks the show business is all right. But she's afraid she may be "through" in a few years. She says that a welfare job will always be good, because there's never a depression in the welfare business.

Funeral Dancing Urged for Mourners

NEW YORK, April 13.—(AP)—When some one you know dies don't weep—dance. That's the advice of Florence Rogge, noted ballet mistress. She recalls that the Greeks, instead of weeping during funeral orations, expressed their sadness by dances.

-:- Plays and Players -:-

By WILLIAM J. LEWIS

Constance Collier, who is the featured femme in "Hay Fever," coming to the Alvin next week as the final offering in the Professional Players subscription series, directed the first production of Peter Ibbetson ever done in this land (that in which J. and L. Barrymore appeared). With Ivor Novello, she wrote a melodrama called "The Rat," which had a season's run in London and was acted in this country, too. She also wrote Harlequinade, a story of her 50 years on the stage. One is box-office for Hay Fever, tomorrow.

* * *

"The Silver Domino," musical comedy, twenty-fifth annual production of the Pitt Cap and Gown Club, will occupy the Nixon stage next week. Tickets for the performances, which are under the sponsorship of the Civic Club of Allegheny County, will be on sale in the Nixon boxoffice tomorrow. Nearly 100 students are engaged in the presentation of the gay work, which is made up of almost a score of scenes.

* * *

Will Rogers likes to keep the same wife, even in the films, so he will have Irene Rich as the missus in "Down to Earth," as she was in "They Had to See Paris" and "So This Is London." Sally Eilers, who has been making one picture after another ever since she registered in "Bad Girl," is in New York on a vacation.

* * *

"Grand Hotel," as a picture, made its New York bow last night, the cast being one of the greatest in movie history, with Greta Garbo, Joan Crawford, John and Lionel Barrymore, Wallace Beery, Lewis Stone and Jean Hersholt in the leading roles. There is a report that Marilyn Miller will return to the revue stage when summer has waned. "The Green Pastures" will be in towns along the Pacific Coast in the late spring, after which Denver and Salt Lake City will be visited before the summer lay-off that will precede the beginning of the third year of the play, which will be in Boston first eastern city to see it outside of New York.

MUSIC

Mendelssohn Choir
Carnegie Music Hall

The Mendelssohn Choir brought another successful year to a close last night when it sang Handel's Israel in Egypt. When Ernest Lunt raises his baton and these singers breathe, then Carnegie Music Hall resounds with a mighty and beautiful voice. And what eloquent music this chorus has already given us!

Mr. Lissfelt

It is a joke that was from "Out Of This World" to Us, a Song Is Born and the "Hallelujah Chorus" to jumping and flying sixteenth notes naively indicating the jumping frogs, the flies, the lice, the locusts and other pestilences which the Lord sent into Egypt.

Only three years or so from "Israel In Egypt" to the Messiah and yet a century of improvement in that period. Truly there are sweeping changes in the former oratorio but we happily are in the realm of their excellence in Mr. Lunt's concert.

When singing in unison last night their work was really grand—the music. It was not so impressive when fragmentary phrases were left to the four choirs. The soloists for the occasion were all Mendelssohnians and luckily so. They all seemed to know what their music was about and gave one a sense of being secure.

The best voice in the group was Sarah Lorenz's fine contralto and she had two grateful songs. Isabel Collin and Irene Garrison Cramblett, sopranos, did a virtuoso bit in their duet, "The Lord is My Strength," a song almost as moving as the duets from the Bach Passions or Mozart's Mass in C Minor.

Edward Williams and George MacDonald took the duet, "The Lord is a Man of War," with first rate spirit in spite of its difficulties. Ralph Gibalofsky, tenor, sang the recitatives most musically although his voice has far more a baritone quality than tenor. Earl Mitchell played organ accompaniments.

NO. 105.

AN ORDINANCE Authorizing the execution of a contract with the Pennsylvania Railroad Company in connection with the extension of Mt. Washington roadway from its present terminus to a point at or near South Ninth street.

SECTION 1. Be it ordained and enacted by the City of Pittsburgh in Council assembled, and it is hereby ordained and enacted by the authority of the same, That the Mayor and the Director of the Department of Public Works be and they are hereby authorized and directed to enter into a contract with the Pennsylvania Railroad Company in the following language:

THIS AGREEMENT

MADE AND ENTERED INTO this day of 1932 between the Pennsylvania Railroad Company, a corporation organized under the laws of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, hereinafter called Railroad, and the City of Pittsburgh, a municipal corporation of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, hereinafter called City.

WHEREAS, The City intends to extend the Mount Washington roadway from its present terminus at or near the junction of Manor street and Arlington avenue, to a point near South Ninth street, and in so doing it is necessary to cross the tracks of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company by a bridge and for the city to use certain property now owned by the Pennsylvania Railroad Company; and

WHEREAS—certain plans have been prepared showing the exact location of said Mt. Washington roadway and its relation to the property of the railroad and the bridge which will be a part of the said roadway, and plans being on file in the office of the Department of Public Works, Bureau of Engineering of the City, as per Plan No. 2425 of the Division of Surveys, Plan No. A 2651, sheet 2 of 12 [illegible] of Deeds and Plan No. 9 [illegible] of the Division of Bridges and Structures which after [illegible] shows the general structural plan of the bridge to be used and constructed.

NOW, THEREFORE IT IS AGREED BETWEEN THE PARTIES HERETO AS FOLLOWS:

1. The recited plans are made a part of this agreement as if attached thereto.

2. The Railroad agrees

(a) That it will execute and deliver a deed or deeds conveying all the right, title and interest of the Railroad in the plans and to as the following described pieces of and as shown by parcels numbers 1, 2 and 3 on the said plan or plans.

(c) It is also understood and agreed that the Railroad Company may, from time to time, extend, construct and maintain adequate sloped piers and upon said parcels Nos. 1, 2, 3 and 5 for the purpose of protecting or supporting the tracks and roadbed of the Railroad Company at the established grade thereof. The Railroad Company shall not be required to procure the release of liens of any of its corporate mortgages or judgments against the said lands and that it shall not warrant against said liens.

(d) To permit the City to have access to said bridge over its property for the purpose of inspection, maintenance, repair or reconstruction at all reasonable times during the existence of said bridge.

(e) To permit the City to construct and maintain, repair, and renew, at its own expense, a 15-inch storm sewer from the proposed roadway to the south end of the existing concrete culvert under the tracks of the Railroad approximately 360 feet west of the center of South Seventh street; provided that the City agrees to construct and maintain, repair, and renew, at its own expense an additional 20-inch storm sewer from the north end of the above-mentioned concrete culvert in a northerly direction across the property of the Railroad to a connection with the main sewer in Carson street, and storm sewers to be as shown on plan No. A-3651, sheet 3 of 12, the Railroad shall have the right at all times to make connections with the above mentioned sewers if it so desires.

3. The City agrees

(a) That it will enact all ordinances necessary to carry into effect this agreement and to enable the City to proceed with the construction of said extension of Mt. Washington roadway.

(b) That it will fully complete the work within the time as shown on said plans and will thereafter at its sole cost and expense maintain, repair and renew the same, that the bridge structure crossing the tracks of the railroad shall be at an elevation to provide a clearance of 23 feet above the top of the rails that the specifications and plans for the work shall be approved by the chief engineer of the Central Region of the Pennsylvania Railroad and the approval obtained before the [illegible] of the said work.

BITS OF LIFE

Hospital Visit.

THE OTHER morning, when I reached the office, sad news awaited me. Mr. William Moore, who had been my companion on the previous night, had fallen from a taxicab and broken his right leg. In case you do not know Mr. Moore, which is a remote possibility, I hasten to tell you that he is the son of James (Dinty) Moore, the proprietor of one of New York's favorite restaurants. The elder Moore is a quiet and dignified gentleman—and his adored son takes after him in many ways.

Exactly how the younger Mr. Moore broke his leg, I am not in a position to state. When he left me, he seemed in the very healthiest of spirits and I little dreamed that misfortune awaited him. He hailed a brandy-colored taxi and was whisked away. The best explanation of the accident seems to be that, when he reached his home, Mr. Moore handed the driver a dollar bill. The driver reached into his pocket and actually had the correct change. Whereupon Mr. Moore collapsed from the shock—and, in so doing, broke his leg.

When Mr. James Burbridge, my secretary, gave me the news I was deeply grieved. And the manner in which I was told made it all the more touching.

"Moore broke his leg this morning," said Mr. Burbridge. "Almost cracked his dome, too, I understand. He's over in the J—— Hospital, the dope."

"Does than mean," I asked nervously, "that I will have to visit him in the hospital?"

I was praying for a negative answer. There are many things that I hate in this world, but I think that hospitals head the list.

"What for?" I asked. "The man's not dead yet."

"Well," he murmured, "you'd better wear it anyhow. You know the effect you have on people."

Within 20 minutes, I was being carried skyward in the hospital elevator. It is impossible for me to describe my feelings at that moment, which is probably a lucky thing for you. I passed a shaking hand across my brow. Poor Billy Moore! Here I was, a nervous wreck from merely visiting the place. How would he feel as an actual patient? I shivered.

A moment later, I stood nervously before a door. I knocked timidly. A voice told me to enter. I stepped in—and I almost fell down.

The room held four or five men, all of them wearing bandages of assorted shapes and sizes. In the bed was young Mr. Moore. Instead of being in desperate agony, he was smiling cheerfully.

"Howarya, kid?" was his greeting. "This is the first vacation I've had in years. Meet the boys. There's Frank, Joe, Charlie, Harry and Mush. Mark Hellinger, fellows."

"What's that?" I cried.

"Some mug who's sick," responded Mr. Moore carelessly. "He's liable to die any minute. Would you care for a glass of ale?"

Before I could answer, the doctor walked in. I knew he was the doctor because the nurse immediately dropped Mr. Moore's hand. The medico was rubbing his hands in a very happy fashion.

"Just operated on that kid, boys," he chirped, "and I think he'll pull through. Took three ribs out of his chest. The only thing that worries me now is that fracture in his skull.

"What a fracture! I've handled plenty of them in my day, but that's the prettiest one I ever saw. A beauty, really. If I could only get one like that on an average of once a week I'd be a mighty happy man.

"Let me see your ear, Charlie. Ah, ha. Still bleeding plenty, I see. Well, that's nothing. You'll be okay unless an infection sets in. Do you mind if I eat a few of your grapes, Billy?"

By this time I was backing slowly toward the door. Another violent groan from across the hall stopped me abruptly. I admit very frankly that I was on the verge of a collapse.

"Ah, ha," cried the doctor happily, "that man is in pain again. If moans count for anything he'll never live through the day. I'd better look at him. Save me some grapes, Billy."

I stammered a few words.

"I—I think I'll go, Billy," I muttered. "I—"

"Don't be silly," interrupted Mr. Moore. "Grab a chair and a bottle of ale. We'll have a pinochle game in a few minutes. Everything is swell."

"They say," he grinned, "that my leg is broken very badly."

The phone rang. The man called Joe answered the call.

"Hello," he said. "Yes. Yes, honey, this is Joe. How is my little wife today. What's that? When am I coming out? I think on Saturday. Wait a minute. The doctor is here now and I'll ask him."

"Hey, Frank," he whispered. "How much ale we got left?"

"Plenty," was Frank's reply.

The man called Harry slipped the bandage from his left arm and revealed a horrible scar. He pressed the flesh gingerly and replaced the bandage. Then he smiled at me.

"Funny thing about wives, Mr. Hellinger," he said. "I was in this very hospital a week ago with some trouble in my right arm. I pick up the phone one morning to call my wife, and I find out she ain't been home all night. Well, I slipped right out of the hospital and went lookin' for her. By the time I goth home, she was there.

"I start to tell her a few things and she pulls a bread knife on me. And before I know what's happened, I'm back here in the same hospital with my left arm all banged up. Ain't that funny?"

"Good heavens, Billy," I chattered. "Who is that guy?"

Mr. Moore reached for a cigaret.

I grabbed my hat. And if I didn't have to do this column I'd still be running.

SONS

Four hundred million Chinese . . . What do you know about the strange lives they lead? Their peculiar marriage customs? The insecure position of women in the home?

Pearl S. Buck is a double contributor to May Cosmopolitan. In a cabled article, she tells you just what the Chinese man in the street thinks of China's present trouble.

Her new Cosmopolitan novel "Sons," successor to "The Good Earth," portrays the career of a peasant boy who becomes a war lord. So vivid and timely is her writing that you know precisely what it means today to be a warrior or a merchant or a woman in this country where passions rage.

Be sure to read Pearl S. Buck in May Cosmopolitan.

"Mother, I do wish you were well and strong . . . you always look tired."

It isn't fair to expect one to like work or to be happy when in a "run-down" condition.

Ordinarily you don't need to go to bed or to a distant resort to regain your strength. Usually S.S.S. will do it right at home and while you are up and going.

If you require a tonic you should by all means try S.S.S.—this long established medicine acts by stimulating the secretions of the stomach . . . reviving the appetite . . . aiding digestion . . . regenerating hemoglobin . . . restoring the red-blood-cells—and builds greater resistance against infection and disease.

Try it yourself. Get S.S.S. from any drug store. In two sizes: regular and double—the latter is more economical and is sufficient for a two weeks' treatment. S.S.S. may be the means of bringing better health and happiness to you.

MARKET FIRMS AFTER RISE AND FALL

Stocks Unable to Make Consistent Recovery as Selling Stream Dries

NEW YORK, April 13—(AP)—The stream of selling which has been flowing into the stock market almost steadily for more than five weeks was all but stemmed today.

The list was unable to make consistent recovery. An early upturn of 1 to 3 points was more than lost as the session wore on, but trading dwindled sharply and the list developed a fairly firm undertone in the early afternoon.

The early upturn ranging from 1 to 3 points in such issues as American Telephone Consolidated Gas, Allied Chemical, National Biscuit, Sears Roebuck, Santa Fe, American Can and Eastman was short lived. The list was momentarily unsettled by uncovering of a few soft spots. Peoples Gas dropped 10 points and Lambert and Drug tumbled 3 to new lows. Standard of New Jersey was offered in considerable volume, losing more than a point. Most of the leaders however failed to go more than fractionally under yesterday's close.

The improved tone in the market was evidently in response to reports that the governors of the Federal Reserve Banks meeting in Washington yesterday had agreed upon a program of more aggressive credit expansion. An immediate reflection appeared in the money market, where rates on bankers acceptances were cut ½ of 1 per cent to 1¼ per cent bid for the short maturities. This rate was so far under the rediscount rate of 3 per cent that a reduction within the next week or so appeared highly probable.

While no figures were revealed as to the amount of credit which the reserve system had decided to put into the market, one report in banking circles was to the effect that open market purchases of United States governments would be expanded from the current rate of around $25,000,000 a week to $75,000,000.

While Wall street has grown somewhat skeptical over the cheap money theory of stimulating business since last year's reduction in the bank rate to a record low of 1½ per cent was without effect, credit expansion has been gaining more adherents among banking and busines leaders lately. It is explained that last year's experience was not a fair test, for the disturbance of the German economic debacle intervened. It was rumored in banking quarters that reserve officials coincident to the new credit expansion campaign had been urging the highly liquid larger banks to adopt a more lenient attitude toward borrowers.

American Ship Plans Capital Reduction

Predicts Heavy Wheat Buying By Europe

WASHINGTON, April 13—George Milnor, of the Farmers National Grain Corporation, following a tour of Europe, predicts extensive purchases of wheat by Europe in the next four months. Milnor says the principal European countries have exhausted their domestic wheat and must buy heavily before the new crop at the end of August.

Forbes

Does Hoover Plan Swinging A Big Stick?

—By B. C. FORBES—

IS THERE nothing hopeful on the horizon? Must we anticipate nothing but confusion worse confounded?

Let's see.

Tax uncertainties will shortly end. In their final form they could not well be worse than those now proposed—and the chances all are that they will be substantially better. Uncertainty always is harder on the nerves than actuality.

Mr. Forbes

Railroads are already showing that they are mastering control of expenses. The wage reduction and freight increases are proving beneficial to net earnings. The Reconstruction Finance Corporation, although denied entire freedom of action by the Interstate Commerce Commission promises to prevent the breaking out of serious railway financial trouble. Bankers are co-operating either willingly or unwillingly.

Output of automobiles cannot fail to increase notably now that Ford is at last ready to swing into production and now that price uncertainties have been removed. Second-quarter output is sure to show important gains. This will impart far-reaching stimulus to industry.

Secretary Mellon announces that hoarding has so completely stopped that there is no need to issue more "baby bonds." Confidence in banks is being rapidly restored now that failures have become negligible. The reappearance of hidden money cannot but have helpful influence all around.

Finally, hysteria, the delusion that everything is going to cease to have any value, must inevitably pass.

I HEAR, but not on first-hand authority, that President Hoover is becoming disgusted with the backboneless exhibited by many of the nation's foremost men of affairs, especially those in command of the purse strings, and he is considering summoning a lot of them to the White House for the purpose of reading them the riot act. 'Tis said he has about concluded to swing the big stick wielded so vigorously by President Roosevelt.

My information is that he is shocked by the continued annihilation of investment and commodity values, and that he is prepared to go the limit in an effort to prod men of means into acting with less cowardice.

THE PUBLIC is beginning to evince keen, not to say bitter, interest in the security holdings of financiers, capitalists and heads of our largest institutions, firms and corporations. The suspicion spreads that a showdown would show up some very prominent citizens.

THIS HUMAN communication comes from a very well-known minister:

"We have heard a great deal about hoarders. It seems to me that since the banks have been helped by the government they are the worst sinners in this field. They are now pushing business corporations and firms to collect loans in order that they may increase the liquid assets of the bank. While they are doing that they are driving to the wall firms which, if given a bit longer time, would certainly be able to go through the storm and continue in business.

"I have a few explicit cases in mind where I have tried to help as a pastor, and in one notable one the bank president even refused to see me. I wonder whether the matter appeals to you so that you can say something about it."

IS IT NOT just possible that all classes of hoarders, especially those at the top, will find difficulty in investing their funds without sending prices soaring.

SETBACK GIVEN TO WHEAT

CHICAGO, April 13—Influenced by laggard action of Liverpool quotations, wheat prices here underwent an early setback today. Despite the continued bullish crop news regarding domestic winter wheat and spring crop seeding delays, new speculative buying lacked snap. Opening ⅛-¼ down, Chicago wheat future declined further afterward. Corn started unchange to ¼ up and subsequently held near the initial limits.

Forecasts suggesting likelihood of moisture soon in various sections of drought territory, Kansas and Nebraska in particular, gave some advantage to wheat bears. Crop reports said that from Salina, Kan., to Amarillo, Tex., the condition of wheat was only 20 to 35 per cent of a 10-year average.

U. S. Daily Average Oil Production Up

NEW YORK, April 13—(AP)—Daily average gross crude oil production in the United States increased 72,500 barrels in the week ended April 9, totaling 2,226,500 barrels, the American Petroleum Institute's weekly summary indicates. Daily average production east of California increased 57,700 barrels to 1,714,600. Gasoline stocks at refineries were 47,171,000 barrels against 46,519,000.

Directors Re-Elected By Cash Register

BALTIMORE, April 13—(AP)—All directors of the National Cash Register Company were re-elected at the annual meeting here today. Stock and proxies representing 975,203 shares of class A common stock were cast.

CORPORATE EARNINGS

Eaton Manufacturing Company, including Wilcox Rich Corporation, reports for March quarter shows net profit of $85,521 after depreciation and federal tax. After deducting dividends on Wilcox Rich Corporation class A stock outstanding, net profit equals 1 cents a share on 857,821 shares of common stock. This compares with net profit equal to 7 cents a share in the March quarter 1931.

Tennessee Corporation and subsidiaries for year 1931 show net profit of $67,521 after depreciation, interest, taxes, etc., equal to less than 1 cent a share on 857,821 shares, compared with net of $1,031,671 in 1930, or $1.20 a share on 857,761 shares.

United Fruit Company reports for March quarter profit of approximately $700,000 after depreciation but before federal taxes, comparing with profit of $3,087,000 in the first quarter 1931.

Western Union Telegraph and Cable Company reports for February shows net operating deficit of $41,874, comparing with net income of $232,015 in February, 1931. For two months deficit amounted to $219,520, against net income of $515,358 in the first 1931 period.

Johns Manville Corporation reports for March quarter shows net loss of $912,607, after expenses, taxes, etc., compared with net profit of $230,109 in the first quarter of 1931.

General Baking Company reports for 12 weeks ended March 19, 1932, shows net profit of $1,014,817, after interest, depreciation, federal taxes, etc., equal, after dividend requirements on 90,775 shares of 8% preferred, to 53 cents a share, par $5, on 1,591,785 shares of common stock.

Auburn Automobile Company, in quarter ended February 29, 1932, earned 1 cents a common share, compared with $1.06 a share in the like quarter a year ago.

The Fair (Chicago department store) in year ended January 31, 1932, earned $5.22 a share on 7 per cent preferred stock, compared with 72 cents a common share after preferred dividends in the previous fiscal year.

American Chicle Company, for March quarter shows net profit of $134,811, after depreciation, federal taxes, etc., equal to 87 cents a share on 500,000 shares, including the stock in treasury, compared with net of $185,248 in the first quarter of 1931, or 97 cents a share.

Great Northern Railroad February net loss amounted to $1,908,387, after taxes and charges, against net loss of $1,324,173 in February, 1931. Two months' net loss of $2,617,457, a year ago.

COTTON STEADY AT ADVANCE

NEW YORK, April 13—Cotton opened steady today at an advance of 2 to 5 points on overnight buying orders and covering promoted by the steadiness in Liverpool cables. May sold at 6.24c. May later advanced to 6.27c and October to 6.70c, with the market showing net gains of about 6 to 9 points at the end of the first half hour.

The weekly report of the weather bureau indicating that farm work was active in the cotton belt with much ground prepared for planting in certain districts was without any apparent effect on the market.

Liverpool continued to buy here during the first hour on the widening of the differences between the two markets and prices worked up to 6.28 for May and 6.70 for October or about 6 to 10 points net higher on the general list. The demand slackened after the close abroad however, while there was a little realizing combined with some southern and local selling which caused moderate reactions. At midday prices were 3 to 4 points off from the best with trading quiet.

LIVERPOOL, April 13—Cotton: No receipts. Spot: Good business done; prices 4 points higher; quotations in pence: American strict good middling 5.46; good middling 5.06; strict middling 4.96; middling 4.71; strict good ordinary 4.51; good ordinary 4.21. Futures closed very steady: May 4.66; July 4.62; October 4.61; December 4.65; January 4.67; March 4.71.

STEEL OUTLOOK IMPROVING

NEW YORK, April 13—Iron Age tomorrow will say:

A few bright spots are apparent in the steel trade notwithstanding a further decline in ingot production to 21 per cent from 22 per cent of the past two weeks.

While still awaiting the release of important tonnage from automobile manufacturers, the steel industry is able to observe such scattered indications of improvement as slightly larger orders for rails and track supplies for spring maintenance work by railroads, a gain in inquiries for structural steel, which, at 39,750 tons, are the heaviest for any week this year, a stepping up of automobile production schedules, and an inquiry for 90,000 tons of pipe for a foreign pipe line, the orders for which are fairly certain to come to American mills.

These developments, together with the stability of the higher price level for most steel products that become effective at the beginning of this quarter, encourage the steel industry to believe that a belated seasonal rise in business of at least moderate proportions is reasonably certain.

ACCEPTANCES CUT AGAIN

NEW YORK, April 13—All dealers have reduced bid and asked rates on bankers acceptances ⅛ of 1 per cent on all maturities. New rates are:

This reduction with the two reductions of ⅛ of 1 per cent within the last few days has prompted a somewhat wider expectation on an early cut in the New York Federal Reserve rediscount rate.

The supply of available acceptances has been much less than demand for some time largely because the business depression has held down the creation of new paper. Acceptances are a form of highly liquid commercial credit.

Eastern Railroad Adopts 'Pickup' Plan

BOSTON, April 13—Boston and Maine Railroad announces that effective May 16 it will establish a pick-up and store-door delivery of less-than-carload freight between more than 50 New England cities and towns located on its lines.

This is the first of such service to be established by any eastern railroad.

Pennsy Loadings Gain During Week

Total cars handled by the Pennsylvania Railroad system for the week ended April 9 were 87,440 against 86,958 last week and 118,609 cars last year.

Liverpool Wheat Market.

LIVERPOOL, April 13—The market was up to 1½d higher, opened 1d to ¼d and at 2:30 was up 1d to 1½d. The market closed ⅛ to ¼ lower.

VOLUME LOWER ON LOCAL MARKET

Rate of Trading Shrinks With Prices Holding at Previous Day's Finals

Further shrinkage in the trading volume on the Pittsburgh Stock Exchange today and a narrower movement of quotations was interpreted in market circles as an indication that recent heavy liquidation had about run its course. In the terrific selling in all markets over the past two weeks local securities had been beaten down with issues on all exchanges throughout the nation. New low records for trading issues had been established.

Notwithstanding the local dealings was the issue of Lone Star Gas, which broke to 3, under a wave of selling which brought 50,000 shares on the market here last week. Subsequently the stock rallied a point or so from the low. It was hovering around the top of the list today. Other issues were steady, but trading was too small to determine a definite trend.

HELPING TO bring back prosperity

AT the present time, scarcely any other industry in America can do as much toward bettering the economic condition of the country as the automobile industry.

Outstanding in the automobile world is the Ford Motor Company, employing thousands of workers, consuming enormous quantities of steel, glass and other materials, and affecting, in its ramifications, countless other industries.

This year the Ford Motor Company has produced the greatest car in its history, and is able to offer greater value for your money than ever before.

The new Ford Four and the new Ford V-Eight are now on display at all the Ford Sales Rooms in Pittsburgh.

CHAPTER VI

Hearing this order the mother [illegible] of her room.

"Please [illegible] mind my daughter," she pleaded. "As her life she has had her own way. Spoiled, maybe. But good at heart. Why not let me go to her sister?"

"One of my people must go with you," Colt insisted. "But you may go with Miss Lola."

"Doctor [illegible] occupies the second [illegible] building and [illegible]

EXPECTS HYSTERIA

Bet[illegible] turned [illegible] waddled [illegible] neither Dr. [illegible] were [illegible] both at [illegible] chairs [illegible] manding [illegible] called [illegible]

Colt [illegible]

HEAVILY GUARDED

"With all the safeguards that you have thrown about Lola now, Thatcher, protector the District Attorney, with a pop-eyed glance around him, "there can certainly be no more real danger—if there ever was any. he finished dourly.

Vincent Rowland nodded.

"If, after all that you have done, Mr. Colt," he remarked, "the life of Lola Carewe were to be taken right under the nose of the Police Commissioner and the District Attorney, why that would be a miracle indeed, wouldn't it?"

"I [illegible] feasted Vincent Rowland [illegible] tively.

"No one [illegible] and [illegible] Colt [illegible] were rehearsing [illegible] and subtle [illegible] that [illegible]

A butler [illegible] behind the [illegible] boudoir. A [illegible] mother, daughter and detective [illegible] —seemed [illegible] to be laughing together. That [illegible] had a weird [illegible] What could they be laughing about?

ROWLAND QUESTIONED

"Nothing [illegible] to baffle Lola," he decided, confirming himself. "She has a very short temper [illegible]."

LOLA APOLOGIZES

Synopsis

Lola Carewe night club habitue receives a death threat New Years Eve. Previously her dog and parrot were mysteriously killed. District Attorney Merle K. Dougherty suspects Lola of being the brains of the jewel thief ring that has baffled the police. Although her husband, Gaylord Carford died practically penniless, Lola lives in luxury. Police Commissioner Thatcher Colt places a guard in Lola's penthouse apartment warning her that she must not be alone in a room at any time. Mrs. Carewe, Lola's mother, Chung the butler, Eunice the maid, and Vincent Rowland, an attorney, are present. In the living room the commissioner finds a bag belonging to Christine Quires, Lola's guest. It evidently had been used that night, yet Lola informs Colt that Christine is at the Lion's Paw, a roadhouse where Lola was to have joined her. Colt is surprised to find Mrs. Carewe's room in strange contrast to the surrounding wealth. Lola's own boudoir is a gaudy contradiction of the living room's elegance. Lola refuses to reveal the identity of the young man whose photograph adorns her dresser.

"THE DOUBLE STEAL"
By Ted Cook—Short Short Story

The Authors

Today we present a literary treat de luxe, a short, short story written by a sub sister and a sub brother. And instead of merely swamping a de Maupassant unit or O. Henry twist, the authors combine the two in one agonizing wrench. Naturally, the story is twice as good as de Maupassant or O. Henry ever wrote.

By Stealla and Tsnatcher Casaba

DID poor Minnie own a poil necklace? She did not. And did Minnie have long and beautiful tresses that reached to the floor? We'll stipulate she did. One day Minnie, tired of snapping a dust rag, got the idea she would like to dress up and go kick the gong around.

"Okay, Minneapolis," replied the grand dame, who was always calling Minnie by the name of Minneapolis. Anything for a laugh.

The next day she said to the lady: "I certainly am sorry but I lost your necklace, but will work 50 years to buy you a new one."

"That's okay, St. Paul," replied the lady, "but where's your beautiful long hair?"

That evening the lady of the house had a date with the fireman who was Minnie's sweetie.

"What time is it by the watch my second maid bought you?" asked the lady.

Dodging the Issues

Candidates Who Refuse to Tell Where They Stand Deserve No Consideration

Replying to letters from the Sun-Telegraph asking how they stand in regard to prohibition, the Blue Law and the laws relating to public utilities rates, several candidates for the Legislature have said they will be guided by the wishes of their constituents.

That is just a polite way of dodging the issues.

The voters have a right to know in advance of the election what position those who ask for their votes will take on matters of the greatest interest and importance of those mentioned.

The Sun-Telegraph will publish its questions tomorrow, together with the answers of those who have replied and the names of those who have not disclosed their views.

Saving Pymatuning Game

Destruction of Wild Life Is One of the Regrettable Things in the Reservoir Project

One of the regrettable things in the conversion of the great Pymatuning Swamp in Crawford County into a reservoir for the regulation of the stream flow in the Shenango and Beaver rivers is that much wild life inevitably will be destroyed.

Such rare birds as the pileated woodpecker and the Appalachian plover, such rare wild flowers as the lady's slipper, a species of orchid, are still to be found in Pymatuning Swamp, and when the swamp goes nature lovers may have to search long before they will find these interesting creatures in Western Pennsylvania.

It is gratifying, though, to learn that the State Game Commission is saving as far as possible the birds and mammals sought by hunters. Nine trappers in the employ of the commission are working ahead of the timber cutters and thus far have caught, alive and unharmed, 1,000 rabbits, 300 squirrels, 150 quail and numerous grouse. It is interesting to note that they caught 11 flying squirrels in one tree. All these animals will be released in other parts of the state.

Trapping operations are to be increased shortly. They may bring some surprises. It is possible, for example, that the otter, though commonly thought to have been exterminated in this part of the country, still lives in the swamp.

The disappearance of the interesting wild life of the swamp will be regretted by naturalists and nature lovers generally; but there is consolation in the promise that the lake that is to be established in its place will undoubtedly become the home of numerous fish and waterfowl.

An Unpunished Crime

The Police Seem Helpless in Allegheny County When Called Upon to Solve a Bombing Mystery.

People everywhere are commenting with shame, indignation and apprehension about a crime in New Jersey marked by the most brazen defiance of organized society, a crime against which the constituted authorities have apparently been powerless.

It is not necessary for the people of Allegheny County to look to the kidnaping of the Lindbergh baby for such a crime. We have an exhibition of contempt for society and police inefficiency every few days in a bomb explosion. There was one yesterday in the destruction of an apartment house in McKeesport. Dynamite with a fuse attached and gasoline were found in the basement.

While bombings or attempted bombings and arson in various forms are of frequent occurrence, it is not often that we hear of convictions or even of arrests. The police seem helpless against these crimes.

The Voting Machine Mess

The Public Will Trust the County Commissioners to Make the Best of a Bad Situation.

Disappointment succeeds disappointment in the prolonged effort of the people of Allegheny County to obtain voting machines.

It has been found that 300 or more machines which the Poole Engineering and Machine Company reconstructed in compliance with instructions from Secretary of the Commonwealth Richard J. Beamish do not function properly and the company has been directed to correct the defect.

The history of our effort to get voting machines is an almost unbroken record of mistakes and broken promises. There is apparently nothing to do about it but to continue to try patiently to get the business straightened out.

Fortunately the County Commissioners are interested in clean elections and not hostile to voting machines. The public will trust them to make the best of a bad situation.

A Good Time to Build

Where New School Houses Are Needed They Should Be Constructed Now.

Dr. James N. Rule, state superintendent of public instruction, has said a timely word in his statement as to the advisability of building school houses now in communities where the existing schools are inadequate.

Not a few school districts have announced plans for new buildings. On the other hand, Dr. Rule points out, some districts are holding back, apparently on the theory that this is an inopportune time for such activities.

On the contrary this is an exceptionally good time for building. The construction costs now prevailing are unusually low. Moreover, by going ahead at this time school boards can help business and contribute to the restoration of public confidence.

All in the Same Boat

American exporters cannot compete in foreign markets with foreign manufacturers so long as retaliatory tariffs against American merchandise are in effect throughout the world.

American manufacturers cannot hope for any letdown in the tariff barriers against American goods so long as the vicious Hawley-Smoot-Grundy tariff remains on our statute books.

The Administration, in passing the Hawley-Smoot-Grundy tariff, acted on the assumption that our foreign trade was a one-way affair—everything passing out of the country and nothing coming in. Other nations soon changed this aspect of the matter.

Until Congress revises the tariff in the light of reciprocal trade agreements with other countries, American industries, American business and American labor will continue to suffer.

Marry-Go-Round

Working Wives

There are so many diverse opinions, so many bitter discussions about the working-wife these days that it's hard to classify her.

* * *

To one man she looks like a menace and a monster of greed who is intensifying the unemployment situation for husbands and fathers. To another, she appears a noble, self-sacrificing pal who is helping to pull her mate over a rough road and rescue him from debt and disaster.

* * *

"Woman's place is in the home!" wails the good old-fashioned Provider. To which many a working girl would reply: "All right! We'll nite. WHOSE home? Show me your kitchenette and hand me a biscuit-tin. I'd love it!"

The truth is that the right or wrong of the working-wife depends on WHY she's working. And for what kind of HUSBAND.

* * *

No woman with a special talent or ability should be denied the privilege of following her natural gift from God—and many women, who would be just a nuisance around the home, are brilliant assets around a business office.

* * *

No girl should be denied the happiness of marriage just because the man she loves is not set on his feet. And many a brave girl has put her shoulder to the wheel, in order that she might marry and help her partner up the ladder to success.

* * *

Likewise, many fine, courageous wives these dark days have been FORCED to seek jobs in order to aid an ill or unemployed husband.

But not ALL husbands are worth working for. It takes a man of fine character and high ideals and principles to weather the insidious temptations and escape the pitfalls of the 50-50 marriage and the dangers of a working-partnership with a woman.

* * *

Rob a lazy man of a weakling of his sense of responsibility, and you take away his backbone, or what might have been his backbone. Many a man who might have become a useful citizen, if he had had a helpless wife to support, just leans back in the shafts when a woman starts to do the pulling, and becomes a masculine "kept-ive."

* * *

These "kept-ive husbands" are increasing in number every day. Because next to canned salmon, the most easily spoiled thing on earth is a man. And the efficient modern woman is doing everything she can think of to wreck the masculine spirit.

* * *

Oh yes, you've got to be married to a big, fine, generous man, in order to make a working partnership of marriage. Yet, the happiest marriage in the world is that in which husband and wife work TOGETHER, for the same aims, ambitions and ideals. But CHOOSE your partner, with both eyes open and your fingers crossed!

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

By O. O. McIntyre

NEW YORK, April 13.—Manhattan has innumerable workers in comparatively inconspicuous posts who make their jobs stand out like Eugene Field's fabled felon on the hired girl's finger. They express such affable efficiency they attain a certain celebrity.

There is Alice Poole Ziegfeld's telephone operator. On the job many years she has never lost the cordiality that makes telephone contact a joy. She is known to almost every player in the land and once she identifies a voice, like the elephant of fiction, she never forgets.

Upon one occasion after a lapse of three years, I tried to trick her with a foreign accent in asking for Ziegfeld. When she got him, she intercepted casually: "Here he is, Mr. McIntyre." Gallants of the town would give much to know the addresses tucked away in her capable head.

Similarly, Renee Carroll, presides over the hat check room at Sardi's, a mid-town luncheon rendezvous. She never gives out checks and has never been credited with an error. Only recently she was fictionized as the heroine in Rian James' "Hat Check Girl."

George Baldwin, at the Palace reverses box office procedure by remembering favorite seats of patrons he knows only by faces. Charlie Journal, night club maestro, expresses the same facility and the equally famous Theodore Szarvis is a walking Almanak de Gotha.

Vincent Lopez' valet Elmer is a human diary who can instantly recall the date of any dinner, the guests and the food served. A few whose names are unknown, stressing courtesy, are the girl at Brentano's information desk and the two crossing cops at Madison avenue and Forty-sixth street.

Small towns rarely effuse to the stranger, yet beneath this gray taciturnity is often a more hearty welcome than the city's syrupy greeting. It is shyness more than lack of courtesy and it may take several visits to crack the veneer. But before long old-timers will be calling you "Bub."

* * *

On upper Madison avenue I stumbled upon a glorified bathroom supply shop fancifully named Au Bain. It caters to the luxurious lolling of the most bath-conscious city in the world. There were sponge-cushioned head rests tinted all colors, and rubber-covered aluminum magazine racks and most modern of all—a miniature bathroom bar.

* * *

* * *

Thingumbobs: Maury Paul has a different full dress or dinner suit for every night in the week. . . . Tomato juice cocktail is now the favorite drink among Americans at the Paris Ritz bar. . . . Helen Menken goes stockingless winter and summer. . . . Verne Porter has written under 58 different names. . . . Ray Dooley's entire stage earnings were put into annuities through the years. . . . So she is sitting pretty. . . . Arthur Brisbane's mail is signed A. Brisbane. . . . Bernard Baruch plays solitaire when trying to solve some knotty problem. . . . John McCormack has been a teetotaler four years. . . . Jules Bache can and does when neglectful, go to sleep wearing a monocle.

* * *

One of my secret and fanatical devotions is the monocle. Several times along hidden byways of the world I sported one. But never right out before all those people! I have often followed those blase continentals who wear them, with the fixety of a porthole in a ship, and my admiration has the eye-bulging variety of the small boy for the ring champion.

* * *

But all my furtive longings are not so foppish. I never see an agile tap dancer with whom I wouldn't trade jobs—and toss in my tortoise shell handled knife with the collapsible scissors and ear-pick to boot. Also I've ached when saying goodby to hostesses to nip up to a hand-stand and waddle out, legs waving in air, to a taxi. There are moments, too, when I have longed to take up flying rings in a big way.

* * *

Perhaps latent gymnosophist yearnings the circus poster incubates in every crossroad yap are responsible for such suppressed fervors. I think the idea was best expressed by the late and deservedly beloved Kin Hubbard. He was a frustrated minstrel whose attic held a trunkful of dancing shoes labeled "Theater."

LISTEN, WORLD

By Elsie Robinson

Year before last they owned three cars, a motor boat, a country camp and a city house, and had their two children in private schools. Today, everything's gone but the country camp and a battered flivver. Dad commutes in on the 7:45. The youngsters, lunch baskets under their arms, tramp to the Little Red School House over the hill; and the Missis—sans star sapphires, ermine capes and Bergdorf-Goodman gowns—washes the dishes, puts a stew on to simmer and plants a line of radishes on the sunny side of the porch.

"AND LIKES IT!" she carols triumphantly.

"Yes, I know," she continues, giving the stew a stir, "I thought the end of the world had come—at first. Never was there a nobler or madder martyr than I when Ed first told me we'd have to move out here. I have always pretended to like the country, but you know what 'country' used to mean to us—three servants and a whirl of entertaining, something happening every second.

"Now that it is all over, I wonder how I ever got into it. We started plain, like everyone else, but you know how things skyrocketed. We felt the luck would never end. Spent everything we had like drunken sailors. When it started, I was doing my own marketing every morning, but before the first year was over I had almost forgotten how to walk—couldn't move unless I went in the car!

"Then, over night, everything gone! And now, this. And believe it or not, we're simply crazy about it. No, I'm not whistling in the rain. I honestly mean it. For the first time in five years I feel really free.

"I didn't realize it, but all those expensive things we bought and did made prisoners of us. It was one long buying orgy, but the more we bought, the more we were tied down. I never understood how things could tie you down and nag you with their upkeep until we lost everything and came back here, with just enough furniture to keep us going.

"AND NOW WE'RE AS POOR AS THE PROVERBIAL CHURCH MICE. BUT WE'RE HAVING THE TIME OF OUR LIVES.

"We go and come when we please. We don't worry about our things because we haven't any things to worry about. Most of our fair weather friends have evaporated, of course, but those that remain love us for what we are, not for what we have. And we're living again, at last!"

Living again—at last. Free from the 'tyranny of things!' Hard to realize that things ARE tyrants when you're buying them. Lovely rugs, beautiful pictures, splendid cars—and the magpie flocks of friends that go with them. Great fun at first, but pretty soon you find that you are being crowded out of the picture.

You thought this was life. But are you yourself doing any living, really? Or are you just fussing around, taking care of Things?

Do you remember that story of the rich young man who became discontented? Of Things he had everything—rich fields, rare jewels, stately palaces, beautiful women—but none of these Things had brought him happiness.

He longed to live. He longed to be filled, once more, with eagerness and wonder, as he had been filled when a child. But nothing moved in him. Each day he felt more like a shackled slave.

So, hearing of this traveling prophet they called Jesus, he came to him and said in his dulled and empty voice:

"What Master, must I do to have life?"

A strange picture, that. The young Christ—a ragged, sunburnt wanderer—so warm with hope and desire. The young noble—wrapped in jeweled robes—so cold with satiety. And stranger, even, the answer Jesus gave:

"GO AND SELL ALL THOU HAST AND GIVE TO THE POOR."

How should he find life? That was how. By selling all he had and giving to the poor.

And most of us reading that text, believe that Christ was speaking out of compassion for the needy. But was he not also speaking out of understanding of the rich?

Sell all thou hast—
GET AWAY FROM THINGS!
Then, only, will you find life!

(Copyright, 1932, King Features Synd., Inc.)

Isn't It So?

A ship may be ever so magnificent, but if she has a little leak she sinks.

Text For Today

Verily, verily, I say unto you, he that heareth my word, and believeth on him that sent me, hath everlasting life, and shall not come into condemnation; but is passed from death unto life.—John, v:24.

The President and Cutting Expense

By Claude G. Bowers

Author of "The Struggle for Democracy in America," "Founders of the Republic," "Jefferson and Democracy," "The Tragic Era" and other important works now writing for the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph.

Now that the President has agreed to co-operate with the House Committee on Economy, it is possible that something may be accomplished, without partisan opposition, to reduce the cost of government. Commenting on his letter accepting the invitation of the House Committee, the New York Times, unintentionally, of course, conveys an erroneous impression of what it is all about. Thus it says:

"It would be hard to find an historical parallel for the letter which the committee of the House has addressed to him requesting him to say what appropriations he would like to have cut down."

We are afraid the incident cannot be so simply explained. This implies that the Congress, realizing its utter inability to act without Mr. Hoover's advice, has appealed to him to help it, and nothing could be more remote from the realities. The Congress was proceeding with its business of finding ways to reduce the cost of government when the President wrote to it—proposing a commission. That was rejected. Then Congress asked the President to submit a definite proposition in a message, and nothing was done. Then it invited him to give his views on what reductions may be made. He finally accepted the invitation.

* * *

"Calling the President's Bluff"

The Times permits its great admiration for the President to lead it into error, when, commenting on the action of the House in "calling the President's bluff" (to use a sporting phrase) and inviting him to submit his plan, it says:

"It all seems a perfectly natural and efficient way of setting about the business, though to strict constructionists of the old school it would appear wholly irregular."

Why?

The strict constructionists of the old school realize that there is a clause in the Constitution which reads:

"He (the President) shall from time to time give to the Congress information on the state of the Union, and recommend to their consideration such measures as he shall judge necessary and expedient."

We have never heard even of a strict constructionist making recommendations to the Congress. No President has failed in this constitutional duty. The trouble, in reference to the reorganization of the government and the reduction of the costs, has been that Mr. Hoover has not yet submitted to the Congress a definite plan of his own with a recommendation that it be adopted. He has not assumed the leadership in the matter, despite the positive pledge he made the people on that subject four years ago.

* * *

No One Is in Better Position to Know

In the case of drastic cuts in the maintenance of the executive departments no one is in better position to know what can be done than the head of the executive department. He has a cabinet of 10 members, who sit with him regularly in an advisory capacity. The constitution provides that:

"He may require the opinion in writing of the principal officer of each of the executive departments upon any subject relating to the duties of their respective offices."

In addition to these advisors of the cabinet, in charge of all the bureaus, and theoretically familiar with the places where savings may be effected, he has a man at the head of the budget, and this head of the budget has a liaison officer in each department.

All these officials have been at the disposal of the President for more than three years, in working out a definite plan for reducing the cost of government and ending duplications. It would seem that if the promise to reduce had not been made in 1928 in a Pickwickian sense, all these officials, constituting an advisory board of the President, might have worked out a definite plan, and that this plan might long ago have been submitted to Congress in the constitutional manner, with the recommendation that it be adopted by that body in so far as that body has to act.

* * *

No Definite Plan Has Been Submitted

But no definite plan has been submitted to the Congress in a message; and, so far as the public knows, no definite plan has been formulated. Congress waited for the President to give it "information . . . and recommendations," but nothing came. Then the House named its Economy Committee and began work.

Then the President proposed the appointment of one of his commissions, which Congress rejected. And in rejecting that proposal, it invited the President to submit in person, or through a representative, his own ideas of where savings may be made. The President has accepted that invitation.

There is nothing in any of this to astonish the Founding Fathers, for they themselves provided that the President should make "recommendations." The trouble has been that no "recommendations have been made."

It ought not to have been necessary for Congress to invite the President to discharge a constitutional duty.

Taxpayers at Breaking Point

But the taxpayers are not greatly concerned with the "fat" of any party, or with the political embarrassment of any individual. They have reached the breaking point on the cost of government. The Founding Fathers, could they revisit the glimpses of the moon, would be astounded to find the vast army with federal badges on their breasts, and to learn that, instead of the government being a servant of the people, the people are bending their backs to the burdens of government.

The late Tom Reed said many good and clever things, but he rendered a disservice to the country when he defended the first billion-dollar Congress with the comment that "this is a billion-dollar country." We have gone upon the theory that we are rich, and money easy to obtain, and with no necessity for the caution of common sense in the expenditures for governmental purposes. As a result, these expenses have "dug in," and it will not be easy to get the government back to a basis of economy.

Thus, it has been estimated, that in the more than four billions spent it is utterly impossible at this juncture to effect economies on more than $600,000,000 of the amount. And that does not mean that the $600,000,000 can be wiped out. But it is on the $600,000,000 that the Congress and executive department must work to make the saving of more than $200,000,000 necessary in the executive departments.

Prosperity Must Begin At the Bottom

In his speech Thursday night, Gov. Roosevelt got down to the fundamental difference in the two schools of political thought when he urged that the restoration of prosperity depends on increasing the purchasing power and the economic well being of the "little fellow." The school of political thought now in power has long acted on the theory that if government helps the big fellow through privilege, he will be prosperous, and will drip prosperity to the little fellow below. We have learned better in this panic. We have discovered that the man at the top is crippled or wrecked because the little fellow at the bottom is out of work and deprived of purchasing power.

There are bourbons who honestly think that prosperity should begin at the top and work down; we believe, with Roosevelt, that it must begin at the bottom and work up. But that involves a complete change in the policies in operation for 12 years.
